PREFACE

AT the Twelfth Annual Reunion of the Good-Hileman families, held in August, 1909, at the home of Howard Good, near Eldorado, Blair County, Pa., the initiative was taken by resolution in business session toward the publishing of a history of these families, and the following persons were elected as a Committee to take the matter in hand: Peter F. Good, of Ashtabula, Ohio; Harry H. Hileman, of Roaring Spring, Pa.; Howard Good, of Eldorado, Pa.; M. A. Young, of Hollidaysburg, Pa., and P. G. Bell, of Altoona, Pa.

Owing to the fuller realization of the scope and difficulty of the undertaking, at the next reunion the following persons were added to the Committee: Miss Laura Hileman and Mr. C. C. Young, of Hollidaysburg; Miss Winifred L. Hileman, of Altoona, and Mr. D. R. Hileman, of Duncansville. At a subsequent meeting of the Committee, Rev. P. G. Bell was chosen to act as editor of the proposed volume.

After three years of desultory effort as a Committee, definite action was taken as to style, size, cost and number of copies of the History, as recorded in minutes of meeting of Committee, at office of M. A. Young, August 24, 1912.

In order to bring the book within the reach of all as to price, it was evident that it must have its limitations. The editor was especially sensitive to this fact, knowing that the many writers from their personal standpoints would vary greatly in their presentations. In this he was not disappointed, and, finding that there would be room in the volume, concluded not to ply the scissors too closely, and thus avoid possible disappointment and offense.

It must, however, be apparent to all that a History of this sort cannot be in the form of obituary, nor even a portraiture of character, except as it will be suggested by positions held and acts performed. Nor can it as a History include facts of however great interest which are foreign to the life and character of those composing the family here represented.

That mistakes and omissions will occur in the collection and arrangement of such a mass of data is to be expected, and all that we as Committee or Editor ask is, that the blame rest where it belongs, and let charity cover the multitude of sins.

While there can be no proof that all who bear the name of Good in this county can be traced to the brothers who came to Lancaster County, Pa., about the opening of the Eighteenth century, we have accounted for but a small portion of their probable descendants. (See Chart and Adenda).

It is hoped that others may be encouraged to trace, from the same family trunk, other branches of family growth, which may finally unite in one grand family tree. As to the origin of the Guth or Good family, all historical tracings seem to agree in making it Swiss. It is contended by some, however, that it must be German, because the orthography of the name is German, and because Mr. Menno Simon, after whom the church organization to which these emigrants became adherents was a German.

Let it be kept in mind, however, that these two countries are contiguous and that, according to the census of 1870, over two-thirds of the families of Switzerland spoke the German language, it being the almost exclusive dialect of the North, Northeast and Central cantons, so that while geographically they are of Switzerland, which at the peace of Westphalia, in 1648, over fifty years before the migration of their forefathers to America, was proved entirely independent of Germany, at the same time we are probably of the Teutonic or Germanic race, just as the Scotch-Irish are Scotch blood on Irish soil. In this they need not be ashamed. The editor would insist that the reader of this volume keep in mind the fact that it was written during the year 1912; which will explain why, with few exceptions the many subsequent changes do not appear.

P. G. BELL, Editor.

THE GUTHE OR GOOD FAMILY

THE GOOD FAMILY, as herein recorded, are of Swiss origin. The exact date of their first coming to America is not known. So far as ascertained, three brothers came to Lancaster County, Pa., in the early part of the Eighteenth century. The name Hans Guth, which was the Swiss orthography of the name, is found in the county records as early as 1711. One of these three brothers remained in Lancaster County, the other two removed to Washington and Garrett Counties, Md. Jacob Guth—supposed to have been the son of Hans—one of these three brothers was a resident of the Leitersburg, Washington County, Md., district in 1765. He was the owner of a large estate near the confluence of Little Antietam with Antietam Creek, which he sold to his son-in-law, Joseph Long, and moved several miles up the valley, where he died in 1797, leaving a widow and the following nine children: John; Anna, wife of Peter Longenecker; Elizabeth, wife of Joseph Long; Barbara, wife of Peter Whitman; Catharine, wife of Peter Newcomer; Mary, wife of Christian Hershey; Jacob, Abram and Christian, who was married to Barbara Alvey. Christian was born February 25th, 1757, died December 5th, 1820, and constitutes one of the links in the chain of descent which we now trace. He owned and occupied a farm of two hundred and twenty acres in the Leitersburg district, County of Washington, Md., which he sold to his son-in-law, Stephen Martin. He was a member of the Mennonite Society. He was the father of nine children whose names, with their numerous descendants, we shall now endeavor to give in the order of their birth.

CHRISTIAN GOOD

CHRISTIAN—Born in Leitersburg District, Md., 1787. Married to Elizabeth Stover. In the year 1813 he purchased a farm in Washington Township, Franklin County, Pa., upon which Woodvale Station, on the Western Maryland Railroad, is now located, but a few miles southeast of Waynesboro. He was a member of the German Baptist church and in politics a Whig. His body lies in the old grave yard in Washington County, Md.

To them were born seven children, as follows:

Daniel R.—Married Susan Mickley. Four children—

- (a) Allen at the old home.
- (b) Anna at York, Pa.
- (c) Elizabeth (married Mentzer), at Waynesboro.
- (d) Emily at home.

Henry was born February 6th, 1815, Washington Township, Franklin County, Pa. He was married in 1839 to Mary, daughter of Jacob Welty, who died in March, 1880. Henry Good married again, his second wife being Catherine Price. He died June 2nd, 1898. His first wife, Mary Welty Good, was born March 22, 1815, and died March 25th, 1880. His children to his first wife were as follows:

Mary Ann, daughter of Henry and Mary Welty Good, was born December 27th, 1841; died November 3rd, 1871.

John Welty Good was born May 4th, 1841; died November 17th 1873.

David S. Benedict, Fayetteville, Pa., born near Mont Alto, Pa., July 18, 1887. Married Emma G. Wingert December 12th, 1909. Farming.

Jacob S. Good, son of Christian and Elizabeth Stover Good, was born December 9th, 1819, on the farm which his son now owns at Midvale, Franklin County. The farm house in which three generations of the Good family were born is one of the first built in the Township. He was a prominent man of his time, and in 1859 was elected County Commissioner of Franklin County.

In 1815 he married Maria, daughter of John Funk, born July 22nd, 1821, who died August 18th, 1904. Jacob S. Good died March 23rd, 1889. His children were:

1.—Oscar W., born October 27th, 1848; died April 9, 1900. Married Annie B. Martin in 1876, daughter of Stephen G. Martin, to whom were born Elder and Gail.

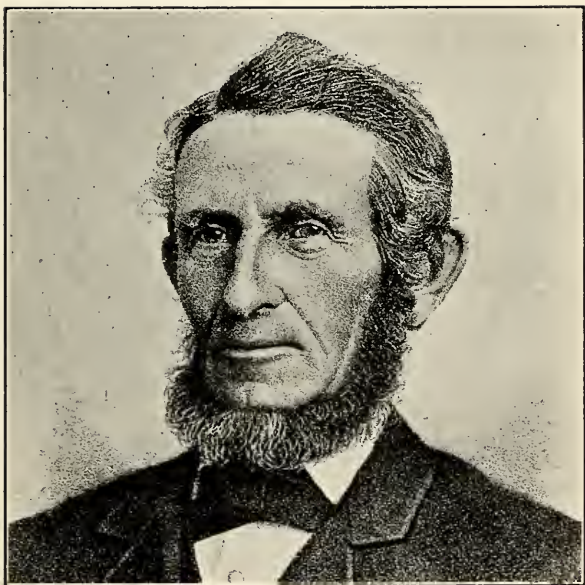

Gail Good graduated in Waynesboro High School, and Jefferson Hospital College for Train Nurses, with high honors, and in June, 1912, was married to D. Hudson Boyde, of Savannah, Georgia, who holds a very responsible position with the Southern Naval Supply Company, in Philadelphia, Pa.

2.—Jacob F., born January 31st, 1852. Was reared on the homestead and educated in the common schools, the Waynesboro Institute and Millersville Normal School. After leaving school he returned to the home farm. In 1880 he became passenger and freight agent for the Western Maryland Railway, at Midvale, and commenced the mercantile and warehouse business and established a postoffice at the same place in 1882.

He is one of the directors of the People's National Bank of Waynesboro, and a substantial stockholder of the various enterprises of the same place. In 1875 he married Mary K. Miller (born August 24th, 1853, near Sharpsburg, Md.; died April 11th, 1897), daughter of Michael Miller.

Her religious membership was with the Brethren Church. The one son of this marriage is J. Omar Good, who graduated from the Waynesboro High School in 1894; from Juniata College in 1897, and later from Pierce Commercial College, Philadelphia, Pa. He is now filling the responsible position of assistant to the president and general manager for the William Mann Company, manufacturing stationers, of Philadelphia, Pa. In 1902 he married Mahle Hartmann, daughter of Mrs. Catherine C. Hartman, and granddaughter of I. G. Harley, a prominent wholesale merchant and churchman, of Philadelphia, Pa.

David Martin Good was born at Midvale, Cumberland County, Pa., in 1813, the son of Christian and Elizabeth Stoevers Good, and educated in York, Pa. He engaged in merchandise in Waynesboro, Mass., Ohio, and Leitersburg, Pa., then at Hagerstown, Md.; then, in 1867, at Leitersburg, and thence in 1870 to Waynesboro, where he died in 1885. He was first married to Margaret B. Davidson; afterward to Mary M. Deitrick.

Of the eleven children, nine are living, as follows: Allen, Preston O., David M., Henry W., Mary K., wife of Dr. J. B. Amberson, of Waynesboro; Titus S., Lenora B., Lilly A., wife of Joseph C. Clugston, of Waynesboro.

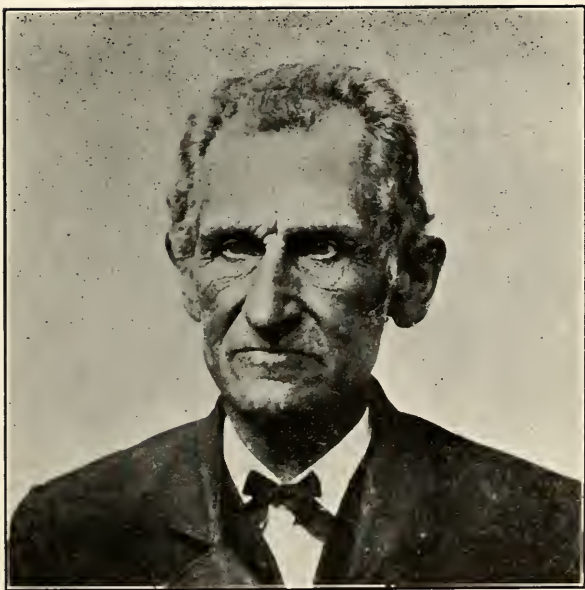

David M., Sr., was a member of the Presbyterian church. In politics a Republican.

(f) Christian, died at age of eighteen years.

(g) Daniel R., married Susan Mickley.

(h) Sarah, married Samuel Welty.

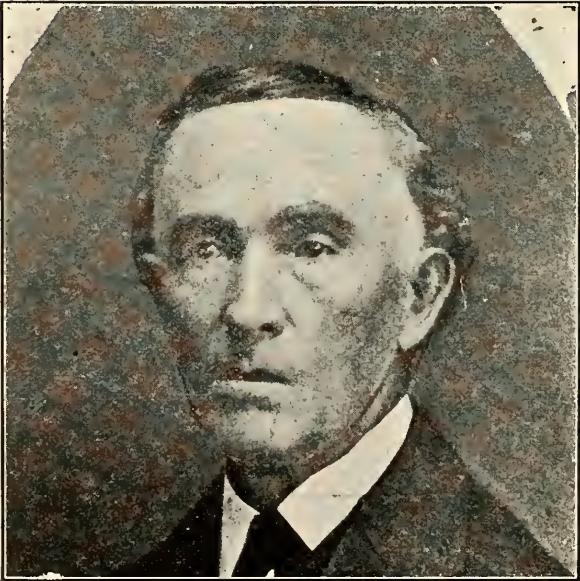

(g) Lawson C., Philadelphia; one daughter.

Only one living of the above is Sarah, widow of Samuel Welty, aged about eighty years.

PETER GOOD

PETER—Second son of Christian and Barbara Good, was born July 26th, 1871. Married Barbara Harnish; moved to Canoe Creek, Huntingdon County, Penna., prior to 1816, where he owned a large farm on which was located one of the natural wonders—the Flowing Spring—which until disturbed in the making of the railroad, ebbed and flowed hourly, suggesting the name of the present railroad station on the Williamsburg Branch. In and around the old orchard grew cartloads of luscious peaches and a superior quality of apples, chief among which was a variety named the Summer Rambows, which were scattered by the old nursery man, Reese, over a wide area. One of the pleasures of his age was to aid his grandchildren in securing a fine catch of fish when in Springtime they came to visit them. With his full supply and variety of nets he gave his time and with good success. For a period before death they homed with their son, Peter, who conducted a store on the west end of the farm, near Canoe Creek, where his wife died January 4th, 1850, aged 67 years, 1 month and 26 days.

Samuel Good.

Mrs. M. M. Good, Wife of Samuel Good

After her death he made his home with his daughter, Elizabeth Bell, near Altoona, in a small out-building erected for his comfort. In conversation he preferred the Pennsylvania Dutch and used it fluently, making pleasantries for all around him. He died suddenly of pneumonia while visiting his daughter, Barbara Hileman, near Waterstreet, November 13th, 1858, aged seventy-seven years. Their bodies rest in a little enclosure on the old homestead near Flowing Spring. They were members of the German Baptist church. The following seven children were born to them.

SAMUEL GOOD

The subject of this sketch was a son of Peter Good, who lived at Canoe Creek, Blair County, Pennsylvania, in the Juanita Valley. He was born April 21st, 1807. He lived with his parents and helped till the soil until he grew to manhood. Some time in the year of 1828 he married Miss Rebecca Hileman, a sister of Frederick Hileman, who lived at Water-street, Huntingdon County, Pa. She was born July 15th, 1811; died November 30th, 1833.

After his marriage he moved on to the farm near the upper end of Scotch Valley, a short distance north of Frankstown, Blair County, Pa., where he lived for about nine years. About four years after his marriage his wife died, leaving the husband and one son, David, to mourn her loss. She was born July 15th, 1811; died November 30th, 1833. Aged twenty-two years, four months and thirteen days.

On April 8th, 1834, he was married to Anna Maria Magdalena Hileman, daughter of Frederick and Maria Bridenbaugh Hileman, who then lived near Waterstreet. After a few years he sold his farm and moved to Canoe Creek, where he kept a hotel, or tavern as it was called in those days. He was also engaged in the mercantile business in the same place.

In 1840 he decided to move to a new field of labor, so he disposed of what household goods he did not wish to take with him. He procured a large English wagon, 4x4x20. This was covered with canvas, turned up at both ends like a half moon. In this wagon were his wife and five children and the household goods that they took with them. The wagon was drawn by four horses, with a saddle on the nigh wheel horse for the driver and a single line leading to the nigh horse at the end of the wagon tongue. They drove over the Allegheny Mountains, winding their way up and down the hills and over the corduroy bridges (so called because they were of logs laid crosswise in the road where it was wet and marshy), until they reached Smicksburg, Indiana County, Pa., a distance of about seventy-five miles and about a four-days' journey. Smicksburg was a small village, consisting of a hotel, general merchandise store, frame church (Lutheran), blacksmith shop, school house and about one-half dozen cheap dwelling houses.

It was situated between the hills on the bank of the Little Mahoning River. Here Sam'l Good engaged in the mercantile business, keeping what would be called a country store, handling a little of everything and not much of any one thing.

He continued in this business for about one year, and then bought a farm of Mr. Thomas Travis about two miles west of Smicksburg. To this farm he moved his family and store of merchandise. In the year of 1842 he bought a farm from Mr. Doughard, joining his on the west, and moved onto it in 1845. This farm had a flouring mill and saw mill with good water power. Samuel Good moved his family and merchandise to this farm by the mill. In a few years he tore down the flouring mill and the saw mill, and built new ones.

The flouring mill was equipped and was very popular in the community; people coming from ten and fifteen miles with loads of wheat to be made into flour. He also made a superior quality of buckwheat and rye flour. In those times the farmers brought their grain to the mill and took home with them the flour from their own wheat. At this time the little and big Mahoning River on the banks were heavily timbered with pine and oak. When the streams were full, one could see timber rafts passing at short intervals. These were manned with four or five men; one man had charge of each oar, the rest were pushers. The man controlling the front oar was called the pilot. The pilot always gave the command to throw the raft right or left.

This was the only way the people had to market their lumber. Some built flat bottom boats and loaded them with pig iron and these with the timber rafts were run to Pittsburgh. Those coming down the Little Mahoning and then into the Allegheny to Pittsburgh, and on down to where they could find market.

Shortly after the mills were completed, Mr. Good built a house and a large bank barn. When all the buildings were completed they consisted of his own new house where the miller lived (formerly occupied by himself), barn, sheds, store house and blacksmith shop, and the two mills. They were all painted new and resembled a small village and looked very enterprising to all passersby.

This farm property bordered on the east side of Armstrong County line and was two miles from Dayton, Armstrong County, Pa., and two miles from Milton, Armstrong County, and three miles from Smicksburg, Indiana County.

At this writing there has been a great change in the process of making flour. In the new process very expensive machinery is used. Mr. Good let the old machinery wear out and then gave up the business entirely.

Samuel Good was a hardworking man, of strong muscular power and of much endurance, and by his economy and industry he accumulated quite a large amount of property. At one time he owned three blocking mills (they were called grist mills in those days), five farms and nearly a thousand acres of land. Part of this was heavily timbered with pine, hemlock and oak and most of the land underlaid with bituminous coal and limestone.

Samuel Good was the father of ten children, one by the first wife and nine by his second wife.

Samuel Good was not what would be called an educated man. What education he had he received at the common schools. He stood well in the community in which he lived, and was always honest and upright in his dealings. He was enterprising in improving the country in which he lived. He was elected Justice of the Peace for a term of years and served in other township offices, and he gave the best of satisfaction in all his decisions in court.

Mr. Good spent the rest of his life on this farm and died March 21st, 1896, at the age of eighty-eight years, eleven months and twenty days.

His second wife, Mrs. Anna Maria Magdalena Hileman Good, was born September 21st, 1814, in Huntingdon, now Blair, County, Pa. She was a woman of pleasant disposition and a faithful member of the Lutheran church. The care of her family was constantly on her mind, and no care or responsibility was too great for her when any one was sick or needed her oversight. She always had a great deal of company. If anyone was at the mill at the noon hour he was always invited to dinner. A man once said of her that she could get up a fine meal in the best of style in the shortest time of any one he ever saw. Sometimes the young people of the neighborhood were invited to an apple-paring, and when the apples were pared and prepared for cooking into apple butter, they were put into a barrel-sized kettle with boiling cider, and a young man and young lady, one on each side, would stir the apple butter, and when they got tired or wished to change off, two others would take the handle and keep it moving until the apple butter was properly cooked. They would then return home, thinking they had spent a pleasant and enjoyable time. To make a kettle of apple butter, it required two barrels of cider, and about two and one-half or three bushels of cored apples to make a barrel of apple butter.

Mrs. Good died November 17th, 1890.

DAVID GOOD

David Good, the only child of Sam'l and Rebecca Good, was born June 17, 1829, in Scotch Valley, Blair County, Pa., where his early childhood was spent. Later the family moved to Smithsburg, Indiana County, Pa. His father engaged in the mercantile business. His mother died when he was a small boy, and his father married later to Anna Marie M. Hileman, a cousin of his first wife, in whom he found a mother, kind, true and sympathetic. He had, by his father's second marriage, five brothers and four sisters, of whom two brothers and three sisters are still living. They are: Peter, of Ashtabula, O.; Samuel Taylor, of Goodville, Pa.; Mrs. A. M. Travis, of Maitland, Mo.; Mrs. Lizzie Haynes, of Dayton, Pa., and Mrs. Rebecca Robinson, of Pittsburgh, Pa., now deceased.

He was converted in his early manhood and joined the Smicksburg Lutheran Church.

He was married April 3rd, 1851, to Miss Catharine Christman Long, by the Rev. A. C. Ehrinfeld, of the Lutheran Church at Smicksburg. Ten children were born of this union: Three died in infancy; David Diehl, died in 1905, leaving a wife and two children. The remaining children are Albert P. Mathew, M. W. L. K., Frank, C. L. Good and Anna.

Albert P. Good has his residence at Washington, Pa., and is engaged in the oil business. He has a wife and two daughters.

Mathew M. Good, son of David and Catherine Good, was born in 1855, in West Mahoning Township, Indiana County, Pa. He lived with his parents until about eighteen years old. Then he went to Clarion County and McKean County, and engaged in drilling for oil, remaining there about three years and then leaving for New York City and remaining there about one year drilling water wells. He then went to Philadelphia, Pa., and spent about one year.

From there he went to Canyon City, Cal. There he drilled for oil, remaining there about a year. From there he went to California and spent some twenty years in the vicinity of Santa Palla, drilling for oil, and then went to Fullerton, Cal., and has lived here some twelve years drilling for oil and superintending for the Birch Oil Company, having under his supervision about twenty-six men. On the 26th of November, 1889, he married Mrs. Lizzie M. Taylor and to this union were born three children, as follows: Matthew Lincoln, born September 29th, 1890; Rita Catherine, born November 19th, 1892; Anna Vera, born January 23rd, 1896. All at home; single.

He has proven an expert in his line of business. He and his family live in Fullerton, have a good, comfortable and happy home. His family are members of the Presbyterian Church.

W. L. K. Good, son of David and Catherine Good, resides on a fruit ranch at Lemon Grove, California. He has a wife and one son. Also has a lemon ranch.

Frank Elwin, son of David and Catherine Good, was born in Indiana County, Pa., October 26th, 1864. He left home at the age of sixteen and went to work for Adam Black on a farm, and from there to Edenboro, Pa., and learned the miller's trade; from there to Kansas. He went to California in the spring of 1887 and engaged in the oil business in Ventura County, near Santa Paula. He there met Olive Josephine Linebarger, who became his wife. They were married at her father's home November 7th, 1891. They have one son—Harry Glen Good, born in Adams Canon January 7th, 1893. In 1900 he leased the land and drilled several wells and got a good production, selling it after four years, to the Union Oil Company. He then bought a ranch of forty acres in Ventura County, known as the Sanbourn ranch. He lived there seven years, moving to Los Angeles, where he built a comfortable home at 1015 Gramercy Drive. He still owns the ranch and his son is now farming it. He is still interested in the oil business.

C. L. Good, a son of David and Catherine Good, is a dentist at San Diego, California, where he owns a nice home. He also has a ranch a few miles out, where he and his family spend a part of each year.

Anna J. Good, daughter of David Good and Catherine C. Good, was born March 9th, 1862. Graduated from Venango Academy. In the year 1878 taught school in Venango Township, Pa. The following spring she went with her parents to live near Georgeville, Indiana County, Pa.

October 13th, 1880, she married Richard F. Brookhouser, of Venango County, Pa. In 1885 they moved to Edenboro, Erie County, Pa., to take charge of a flouring mill at that place. Two daughters came to bless this home: Lillian May, born July 7th, 1882, and Edna Catherine, born January 6, 1885. In February, 1889, they moved to Santa Paula, California, where Mr. Brookmire went to work for the Union Oil Company. June 30th, 1903, Lillian May was married to Charles Le Roy Crumrine, of Santa Paula, Cal. After their marriage they moved to Redlands, California, where Mr. Crumrine had charge of an orange packing house. In 1906 he returned to Santa Paula to take charge of a lemon association packing house.

On March 29th, 1909, a daughter, Pauline May Crumrine, was born to this union. In April, 1904, Mr. and Mrs. Brookhouse and family moved to Los Angeles, Cal., where they still reside at 380 West Fifty-ninth Place. Mrs. May Crumrine and family now reside at East Whittier, Cal. Edna Catherine is at home (single).

The mother of these children died at Georgeville, Indiana County, March 12, 1882, and was buried at Smicksburg, Pa.

In 1883 David Good was married to Miss Hettie Johnson, of Venango, Pa., and she died February 14th, 1885; also Josephine, the baby daughter, who was born February 10th, died the same day.

In 1887, Mr. Good opened up a grocery store in Edinboro, Pa., where he became acquainted with and married as his third wife Mrs. M. A. Waggoner, of that village, in October, 1888. In September, 1893, he moved to Lawrence, Kansas, and bought a home in which he lived until his death which occurred March 26th, 1907. He rests in the old church yard cemetery at Smicksburg, Pa. Beside his first wife and little ones, and near the graves of his kindred.

David Diehl Good, son of David and Catherine Good, born September 22, 1857, and died October 18th, 1904. To this union three children were born. Two are now living, David Wilber, born September 28th, 1885, and Mary May, born May 29th, 1885. Their residence unknown at this writing.

PETER F. GOOD

Peter F. Good is the oldest son by the second wife of Samuel and Anna Mariah Good, and was born May 19th, 1835, in Scotch Valley, Blair County, Pa. He lived with his parents until he was about twenty-six years of age.

He was christened Peter, after his grandfather, Peter Good. His first vote was cast for a presidential candidate on the Republican ticket. There was another Peter Good in the same neighborhood and there arose trouble between them when one received the other fellow's letter, opened it and reading it would know what the other fellow's girl thought of him. This proved very unpleasant to all interested, so the subject of this sketch added the letter F. to his name.

At the age of twenty-three years he became a member of the Smicksburg Band, consisting of stringed instruments and brass horns. Peter played the bass viol.

Peter F. Good.

This band was the only one in this part of the country, and it was much appreciated, and they often played for public concerts, exhibitions, etc.

In the spring of 1860, he and a cousin, David Hileman, of Water Street, Blair County, Pa., made a trip west through Illinois and Iowa. They were both farmer boys and this was their first venture from home. Mr. Hileman was taken seriously ill with typhoid fever at the home of his uncle, John Hileman, who lived then at Brookville, Ill. Peter F. was stopping with his uncle, Michael Hileman, near the same place. He went over and nursed his cousin during his illness, and both returned home the same fall.

In the year 1861 Peter F. Good bought a half interest in his father's store (general merchandise), and invested all the money he had in the new enterprise, with the exception of a three-cent piece which he kept for seed.

This store was near the mill (homestead), his father tending the store except when he was away, when Peter looked after it. He was the farmer, his father having over three hundred acres of land, all in one body. (A little later, during the war, coffee sold at 50 cents per pound and many other grades of merchandise in the same proportion).

This partnership continued for some years, then he sold out and gave up the business. In 1861 he bought the farm on the east end of the homestead which consisted of about 150 acres. His sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Haines, with her daughter, May, moved on the farm and kept house for him, as he was not married at this time. Mr. Haines had enlisted in the Union army for a term of three years.

November 4th, 1864, Peter F. Good married Miss Emily Dawson, of Neilsburg, Pa. After their marriage they moved on the farm and lived on it until the spring of 1866. They then had a "vendue" and sold off all their belongings, with the exception of two horses, a buggy, and a few choice things that they did not wish to sell. The farm was bought again by his father. They then drove with their first born to Neillsburg, to the home of Mrs. Good's parents, and remained here for some time. From there they moved to Ashtabula, Ohio. Houses such as he wished to buy or rent were very scarce, but he bought a small house of a Mr. Kendall, on Center Street, for $2,500 cash, and moved into it. In 1869 he traded this property for a house and three and one-half acres of land at 129 Prospect Street. At the same time he bought a lot of John Warmington on Center Street. About this time he bought Center Street property of Mr. E. A. Hitchcock for $10,000. This property has 225 feet frontage.

Mr. Good lived in the Center Street house until 1877, when he built a fine brick house on his lot at 129 Prospect Street, and in this he has since made his home, and will probably live here the remainder of his life. This house was considered the best in the city at that time.

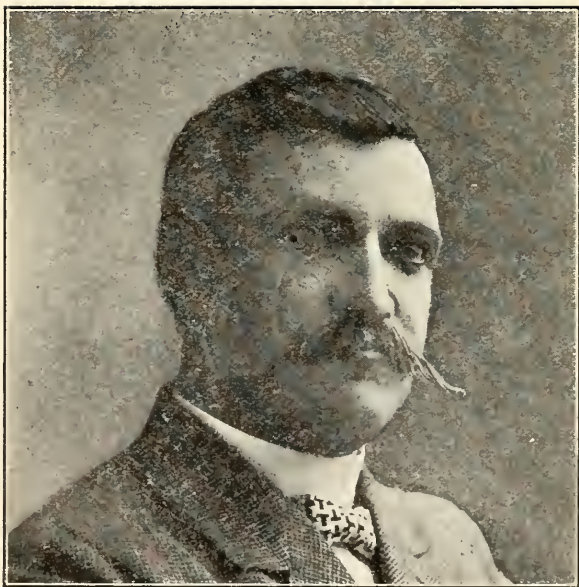

In 1870, he bought an interest in two schooners which sailed on the lake, the "York State" and the "William Young." These boats carried grain, ore and coal. They sailed between Buffalo, Chicago and Lake Superior. The schooner "William Young," in the Spring of 1872 loaded coal at Buffalo for Chicago. The Captain, Charles Pratt, was anxious to get out early, and so hired a small tug to tow him out into the lake. The tug got disabled in the ice and the boat floated down the river some distance, and got onto the rocks, which caused a great deal of damage. By the time she was turned back into port, put into dry-dock and repaired suitable for sea again, and loaded with coal, she had caused a bill of seven or eight thousand dollars.

This was a loss of time equal to three trips up the lake. The insurance company paid about one-half the loss. After a few years of experience he found the business to be a very risky one, and not wishing to invest his money longer in so venturesome a business, he sold his interest.

He then went into the business of selling coal, lumber and building material on his property at Center Street. This business he continued for some years, when he gave his son, Willis, one-half interest. He afterward gave him the other half interest.

In 1872 the Ashtabula National Bank of Ashtabula, O., organized with a capital stock of $100,000. Mr. Good was elected one of the Directors, and a few years after he was elected Vice President, and later he was elected President, which position he retained until he declined to serve longer.

Willis E. Good.

He, with two other men, both of an inventive turn of mind, engaged in the manufacture of nail machines, with a capital stock of $15,000, Mr. Good owning two-thirds of the stock. His partners did not prove to be practical business men. The business did not prove to be very successful. After a time the factory caught fire, and everything was consumed, and it was never rebuilt.

Mr. Good has always been taking an active interest in building up the town. He took stock in most all the manufacturing concerns that have come to the city. Some of these have proved successful and others have not.

He and his family are members of the Methodist Episcopal Church. At one time he held thirteen offices in the city and church. Of the latter, he has been an active member, and was one of the building committee when the new Methodist Episcopal Church was built on Elm Street. He has always been one of the church trustees.

He and his wife are the parents of two children.

Willis Elmer Good, the eldest son of Peter F. and Emily D. Good, was born in Smicksburg, Pa., August 23, 1865. When a little over a year old he came with his parents to Ashtabula, O., and that city has ever since been his home.

After passing through the public schools of Ashtabula, he attended Allegheny College at Meadville, Pa., and subsequently Mount Union College at Alliance, O. He returned to Ashtabula to enter into the coal business with his father, and afterward assuming the business himself, building up a large and prosperous business and continuing in the same until the spring of 1907, when he took a partner, and a few months later selling out his entire interest to his partner.

He has always been active in temperance work and in all efforts of any kind for the up-building of the city and the uplifting of his fellow-men.

He is at present secretary of The Charity Organization in Ashtabula, being one of the instigators of it and since its organization, two and a half years ago, hundreds of people have been helped with clothing, food, medicine, etc.

He is an active member of the First Methodist Episcopal Church of Ashtabula.

Dr. S. D. Good.

August 23rd, 1899, he was united in marriage to Susie Lillian Darrow, of Ashtabula, O., and to this union two sons were born, Peter Francis Good, December 3rd, 1902 (named for his grandfather, P. F. Good), and Robert Darrow Good, born September 23rd, 1911.

DR. SAMUEL DAWSON GOOD

Dr Samuel Dawson Good, son of Mr. and Mrs P. F. Good, was born in Ashtabula, O., January 3rd, 1868. He spent his boyhood days in Ashtabula where he attended the public school. From there he went to Austinburg Academy and later to New Lyme Institute. At the age of nineteen years he entered the Columbus Medical College, where he graduated. Afterwards he was a student at Wooster Medical College, where he obtained a second diploma. Later he took a special course in Homeopathy, graduating in 1901. He located in Newton Falls, O., where, during ten years, he built up a lucrative practice, being surgeon for the Pittsburgh and Western Railway Company.

In connection with his practise he owned and operated a plant for the manufacture of butter and lard tubs and paint and candy pails.

He sold his practise and located in Madison, Lake County, O., where he has enjoyed a fine practise for the past eight years, and held minor offices on the council, etc., being president of the Board of Education for two years.

In 1893 he married Lillian D. Ashton, of Sharon, Pa. No children.

The doctor takes active part in all local affairs and has well earned the success achieved. The Congregational Church is their chosen form of worship.

The family at present resides at Madison, Lake County, Ohio.

ANNA MARIA GOOD

Anna Maria Good, the oldest daughter of Samuel and Anna Mariah Magdalena Good, was born October 23rd, 1836, in Blair County, Pa., on a farm near Frankstown. She first attended the country school called Pine Grove, which still stands. She later attended Dayton Academy for three years.

On June 3rd, 1856, she was married to Rev. Christian Diehl, a Lutheran minister of Smicksburg, Pa., who died December 1, 1859, and was buried in the Lutheran cemetery at Smicksburg, Pa.

To the above union two children were born: Samuel Good and Christian Erastus.

After the death of Mr. Diehl, his wife went back to the home of her father where she lived until her marriage to W. B. Travis in September, 1862. They then moved to New Vernon, Mercer County, Pa., where Mr. Travis was engaged in business. Mr. Travis was a widower and had one son, J. A. Travis, who is general manager for a firm in Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. Travis lived at New Vernon for two years, then moved to Dayton, where they remained a short time before moving west to Iowa, and later to Illinois. Of this marriage four children were born: James Edward, Frank Shields, Flora Viola, and William Walter.

They lived for sixteen years in Paxton, Ills., where Mr. Travis was engaged in mercantile and grain business. In 1884 they moved from Illinois to Tarkio, Mo., where he was engaged in the mercantile business for sixteen years. He retired from business a year prior to his death, which occurred in February, 1901, after an illness of only two days.

Mr. Travis was at the head of the school board for years and was an elder and devoted worker in the Presbyterian Church. Few men have ever had the clear conviction and steadfast devotion to duty along with a gentleness and tenderness that distinguished him.

Samuel Good Diehl, son of Rev. Christian and Anna Maria Diehl, was born in Smicksburg, Pa., Feb. 20th, 1857. He was married to Lula Jordon, daughter of Chas. A. Jordon, at North Platte, Neb., August 27th, 1889. To this union ten children were born: Ada Araminta, born at Myrtle, Neb., July 29, 1890; Erastus Jordon, born December 13th, 1891; Omer Kem., born August 15th, 1893; Willie Travis, born September 6th, 1895; Ethel Maud, born May 24th, 1898; Vira Winifred, born at Clear Lake, Utah, April 27th, 1900; Lester Good, born at Clinton, Utah, November 12th, 1902; Charles Christian, born January 13th, 1905; Samuel Gordon, born January 9th, 1907; Flora Viola, born August 20th, 1909.

Samuel Good has had rather a checkered career. He learned the printing trade in Illinois when a boy and then the oil well drilling business in Pennsylvania, and then went back to farming. He took up a homestead in Nebraska in 1885, and from there went to Utah. At the present time he has a farm near Filer, Idaho.

Christian Erastus Diehl, second son of Rev. Christian and Anna Maria Diehl, was born in West Mahoning township, Indiana County, Pa., March 25th, 1861. He was educated in the common schools and in the Dayton Academy. He has mostly followed farming. He took up a homestead in western Nebraska in the early 80's and has a farm near Jerome, Idaho, at the present time.

James Edward Travis, the eldest son of W. B. and Anna Maria Travis, was born May 25th, 1863, and was educated at Paxton, Ills., at the high school; then entered the Collegiate Institute, was graduated, then went to Cranfordsville, Indiana, to Wabash College. On account of trouble with his eyes he had to leave college and pursue other lines of work. He came to Tarkio, Mo., went on a twenty-five hundred acre ranch, belonging to Mr. David Rankin, where he remained five years as manager, then came to town and entered the store of Rankin & Travis, later buying his father's interest, and is today manager of the firm, Rankin, Travis & Co.

He was married to Miss Fannie B. Marshall, of Tarkio, Mo. He is quite an extensive land owner, dealing largely in cattle and hogs.

Frank S. Travis, the second son, received his education in the high school and Collegiate Institute of Paxton, Ill. After his graduation he left home for Chicago, where he entered the wholesale clothing house of Kohn Bros. He decided to come west, gave up his position and went to Tarkio, Mo. In October, 1888, he was married to Minnie B. Tate, of Rockport, Mo. To this union six children have been born: Helen Marguerite, born October 17th, 1889; Jean Tate, born October 18th, 1891; Joseph William, born June 24th, 1895; James Edward, born September 17th, 1897; Dorothy, born January 18th, 1904; William B., born March 19th, 1908.

After coming to Tarkio, Frank Travis was in business with his father, later going into the same business for himself, dealing in implements, buggies and wagons and now has, in addition, a large automobile business.

Flora Viola, the only daughter of W. B. and Anna Maria Travis, was born in Birmingham, Iowa. When a few months old, the family moved to Paxton, Ill., where they lived for sixteen years. She was educated in the public schools and Collegiate Institute of Paxton. After moving west to Tarkio she entered Tarkio College and graduated from that institution in June, 1889.

She married Professor H. K. Noel, who taught in Tarkio College for thirteen years. On account of ill health, Mr. Noel thought it necessary to make a change, and in 1905 he left Tarkio and moved to Maitland, Mo., where he is engaged in the hardware and furniture business. They have one son, Leon Travis Noel, born October 2, 1900.

William Walter Travis, the youngest son, was born November 10th, 1869. When a boy he came to Tarkio and entered Tarkio College and was educated there. After leaving college he entered a hardware store as a clerk and learned the business and today has a good hardware business of his own. He has a farm near town and divides his time between the farm and store.

He was married to Miss Emma Shaum, of Tarkio, April 29th, 1896. They have two children, Helen Armstrong, born May 31st, 1897, and Benjamin William, born March 4th, 1899.

Mrs. Anna M. Travis makes her home with her daughter, Mrs. Noel

REBECCA GOOD

Rebecca Good, daughter of Samuel and Anna M. M. Good, was born July 14th, 1838, in Scotch Valley, Blair County, Pa. She was married to William Robinson, a merchant in the clothing business, on July 12th, 1857. Of this marriage two children were born: Flora May and Elmer Ellsworth Good.

Mr. Robinson died November 18th, 1892, and is buried at Smicksburg, Pa.

Flora May Robinson was born October 30th, 1858, at Smicksburg. On January 1st, 1877, she was married to George H. Stoeber, a shoe merchant. To this union four children have been born: Harry William, George Vioc, Edna Florence and Dorothy Margaret.

Elmer E. G. Robinson was born April

Mrs. Elizabeth Haines.

11th, 1861, at Good's Mill. After the death of his father, in 1892, he took charge of his father's store in Pittsburgh. He is unmarried. Mrs. Robinson died May 17th, 1911, and was buried in the Smicksburg cemetery by the side of her husband. She was a member of the Methodist Protestant Church.

ELIZABETH GOOD

Elizabeth Good, daughter of Samuel and Anna M. M. Good, was born at Canoe Creek, Blair County, Pa., on August 30th, 1840. When she was about one year old, her parents moved to Smicksburg, Indiana County, Pa., and a little later to what is now known as Goodville, and still later moved to Good's Mill on the Mahoning Creek.

She received her early schooling at the Pine Grove school and then spent two summer terms at the Dayton Union Academy. She taught in her home school at the age of sixteen. In 1858 she taught the Ringgold School.

She was married on March 30th, 1859, to W. A. Haines. They went to housekeeping in Brookville, Jefferson County, Pa., the same year. Mr. Haines was a miller by trade and soon moved to Worthville to take charge of the mill there. She, at the same time, taught a three months' term of summer school.

In 1861 the Civil War began and Mr. Haines enlisted for three years. He was in most of the battles fought by the Army of the Potomac, among them the famous Battle of Gettysburg.

At the end of the three years' enlistment, he returned home, and they moved to Shelocta, Indiana County. After remaining there a few years they returned to Good's Mill. Mr. Haines later bought the Glade Run Mill. This burned down the next year, but he rebuilt at once. In 1887 he sold this mill and moved to Dayton. After going west and looking for a suitable location, but finding none, he bought the Centreville Mill in Crawford County, Pa. In February, 1888, he took his family there, but had been running the mill only about six weeks, when he was caught in the machinery and injured so badly that he died the next day. He was buried at Centreville. After his death Mrs. Haines moved to Dayton, where she has since made her home.

Ida May Haines was born April 15, 1861, at Worthville, Pa. She received her name, Ida May, from the home of one of the steamboats which was in the Harbor at Pittsburgh when her father started to the Civil War.

Soon after her father's return from the war, she started to school at the age of four and one-half years. After attending her home school for a time, she spent four summer terms at the Dayton Union Academy.

She was married December 25th, 1878, to D. D. Marshall, of Dayton, Pa., where they went to housekeeping in April, 1879. They have had four children: Clair Haines, died August 29th, 1892; Mabel Viola Delphine, Thomas Ralph and a son who died in early infancy.

After the death of Mrs. Marshall's father in 1888, Mr. Marshall moved his family to Centreville and took charge of the mill, which had belonged to Mr. Haines. In 1891 they sold their property at this place and moved back to Dayton, where Mr. Marshall and Mr. Ellis, in partnership, built what is now known as D. D. Marshall's Sterling Flouring Mill. The next year Mr. Marshall bought out his partner's interest and has since operated it himself. Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Marshall are members of the United Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Haines united with the Dayton Methodist Episcopal Church in 1858, of which she was a faithful and consistent member until her death, November 24th, 1910. She was president of the Ladies' Aid Society for twenty years, superintendent in the Sabbath School and a teacher for a number of years.

Since the above writing Mrs. Elizabeth Haines died November 24th, 1910, and was buried in the Smicksburg Lutheran cemetery and later Mr. E. Haines' body was taken up and buried in the Smicksburg cemetery beside his wife.

James Good and Hileman Good, sons of Samuel and Anna M. M. Good, died in infancy. They are buried in Smicksburg cemetery.

SAMUEL TAYLOR GOOD

Samuel Taylor Good, son of Samuel and Anna M. M. Good, was born January 1st, 1848, at Good's Mills, Indiana County, Pa. His early life was spent on the old homestead. Having finished his schooling at what is known as the Pine Grove School, he gave his attention to farming and milling.

On March 4, 1875, he was married to Sarah Alice Dodson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dodson, near Smicksburg, Pa. He went to housekeeping on the farm one mile from the homestead. Here he lived for five years, after which he moved to his father's home to take care of his parents, who were now too old to live alone. He managed both farms with the assistance of a farmer who moved into the house vacated by him.

Fourteen years of his life were spent at the homestead. During this time he built a nice house on his own farm. This he occupied in the spring of 1894, at which place he still resides.

In 1896 the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh Railroad extended its line from Punxsutawney to Butler, passing through these two farms. They established a station at S. T. Good's farms, and called it Goodville.

Nine children were born to this couple, as follows:

Oscar Hileman Good was born January

13th, 1876. His boyhood days were spent on the farm. In 1896 he went to Pittsburgh, took a business course and afterwards became conductor on a Pittsburgh street car. In 1898, he purchased one-half interest in a general store in Dayton, but soon afterwards became sole owner.

On June 7, 1899, he was married to Elverda Ritchey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Ritchey, of Smicksburg, Pa. They have one child, a daughter, Helena.

In 1908 Dayton was visited by a fire which destroyed one block. By this Oscar Good lost his home and store, but saved much of his furniture and store goods. He at once proceeded to erect a new structure, and now is located in one of the finest buildings in Dayton.

John Emery Good was born July 17th, 1877. His boyhood days were spent on the farm. In 1896 he went to Indiana Normal School, and took a teacher's course. After this he taught two years in the country schools at West Mahoning township, Indiana County, spending his summer months at Indiana Normal, where he graduated in 1899. In the winter of 1899-1900 he taught the March and grammar school; 1900-1901, the Smicksburg grammar. In the summer of 1901, he was assistant principal of the Dayton Union Academy. In the fall of 1901 he was elected principal of the West Reynolds ville Schools, which position he held for two years.

In 1903, he with his brother, Burt, started a clothing and furnishing store at DuBois, Pa., where he is still located. On July 10th, 1907, he was married to Mary Isabel Pollock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Pollock, of DuBois, Pa. They have a daughter, Lesta Claire, and a son, Willard Taylor.

Samuel Burt Good was born November 9th, 1879. After spending his boyhood days on the farm, he attended school at the Smicksburg-Dayton Union Academy, and one term at Indiana Normal. He then took up teaching. which he continued for four years.

He spent some time as clerk in stores at Pittsburgh, Ashtabula, Ohio, and Indiana. In 1903, he went into the clothing business with his brother, John. In 1905 he gave up the store and purchased his grandfather's farm at the old mill. Here he farmed for two years and at the same time acted as ticket agent at the Goodville station. In 1907 he sold the farm and purchased D. D. Good's general store at Smicksburg, where he is still in business.

On May 31, 1905, he was married to Melda Edna Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Davis, of Smicksburg. They have two sons, Ray and Ernest.

Albert Curt Good was born September 14, 1881. He gave his attention to farming until 1901, when he took up the plumbing trade in Pittsburgh. After learning his trade he was employed by Mr. Beatty Elkin until 1908, when he purchased Mr. Elkin's shop.

On September 30th, 1908, he was married to Margaret Bennett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Bennett, of New York. He now makes his home at Wilkinsburg, Pa. They have one child, a son.

Richard Clair Good and Anna Maria Good are twins, born May 26, 1885. Clair, like the other boys, helped on the farm as a boy. He was also ticket agent at the Goodville station for a time. Later, having a desire to become a dispatcher, he took a course in telegraphy, but changed his mind while at school and enlisted as a member of the signal corps in the army. In his three years' service he was stationed at Washington, New York and Fortress Monroe. At the end of the term of service, he took up mechanical drawing, next the carpenter's trade, and at present is back on the farm where he, with his brother William, help their father carry on the work of the farm.

Anna Maria Good was a dressmaker for a time, located in Pittsburgh, but now resides at the homestead with her parents.

William Laurence Good was born September 20th, 1886. He is ticket agent at Goodville, which requires his attention about two hours each morning and evening. The rest of his time is spent helping his father and brother, Clair, with the farm work.

Mary Pearl Good and Dora May Good (twins), were born January 24th, 1890. Dora May died in September, 1890, when only eight months old. Mary Pearl was married May 28th, 1907, to Frank Hoover, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hoover, of Loop, Pa. They live on a farm near Porter. They Have two children, Olive Marie and William Delfis.

CHURCH RELATIONS OF SAMUEL TAYLOR GOOD'S FAMILY

Samuel Taylor Good, early in his life, associated himself with the work of the Lutheran Church, being at many times Deacon of said Church. His wife, at the time of her marriage, was an active member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, but had her letter transferred to the Lutheran. They at all times have given their time to the work of the church, and trained their children to do the same. They were all started in early childhood to Sunday School and at the present time, wherever they are, all are regular attendants at Sabbath School and Church.

Oscar Hileman Good associated himself with the Methodist Episcopal Church at Smicksburg, and after taking charge of the general store at Dayton, he and his wife had their letter transferred to the Methodist Episcopal Church at Dayton, where they have been actively engaged in the work of that church.

John Emery Good joined the Lutheran Church at Smicksburg, in his early teens.

For many years he served in the capacity of Sunday School teacher and for a time was president of the Christian Endeavor Society. This work brought him in close touch with the doctrines of the Lutheran Church.

While attending Indiana Normal, he was a teacher in the Sunday School and an attendant at the Lutheran Church. In the beginning of his career as merchant in Dubois, he had his letter transferred to the St. Paul Lutheran Church, where he served as Sunday School teacher, assistant superintendent and deacon of the Church. When the Trinity Lutheran Church was formed his letter was transferred to the new Church. Here he was elected superintendent of the Sunday School, which office he held for three and one-half years. Asking to be released from said superintendency, he was elected to serve as deacon. His wife, after her marriage, had her letter transferred from the Presbyterian Church to the Lutheran, where she has been an active worker.

Samuel Burt Good joined the Methodist Episcopal Church at Smicksburg. He attended faithfully the Sunday School and other services of that church. When he established his business at DuBois, he at once joined the Methodist Church of that place, where he took a most active part in Sunday School, Epworth League, and Church work. When he returned to Smicksburg, both he and his wife assumed active duties in the church, Mr. Good serving at different times as president of the Epworth League and Superintendent of the Sunday School.

Curt Good, when a boy, joined his home church, where he was regular in attendance, until his removal to Wilkinsburg, where he has retained his relations to Church and Sunday School.

Clair, Anna, William and Pearl are members of the Lutheran Church at Smicksburg. They have always been faithful in attendance of Sunday School, Christian Endeavor and Church services. Anna is at present teacher in the Sunday School.

MARY ADESSA GOOD

Mary Adessa, daughter of Samuel and Anna M. M. Good, was born December 9th, 1851, at Good's Mills, Indiana County, Pa.

Her early life was spent at home attending school at Pine Grove and Dayton Union Academy. On December 12th, 1872, she was married to George W. Irwin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Irwin, near Dayton, on a farm. They lived at this place for about two years, then moved to a farm near Smicksburg, where Mr. Irwin still resides.

Mrs. Irwin died September 6th, 1899, and was laid to rest in the Lutheran cemetery at Smicksburg. Mr. and Mrs. Irwin were the parents of six children, as follows:

Albert Preston Irwin was born September 18th, 1873, near Dayton, Armstrong County, Pa. He spent his boyhood days on the farm attending school at Pine Grove and the Dayton Union Academy. Later he purchased an interest in a saw mill, to which he gave his attention for twelve years. After this, he again took up farming. During his work at the saw mill, his home was at Smicksburg. He now resides on a farm near Denton, Pa.

On April 12th, 1899, he was married to Charlotte Aminna Lukehart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lukehart, of Denton, Pa. To this union six children were born:

George Thomas, John Benjamin, Clyde Edward, David Dale, Merle Elder, Leanna Grace.

Elva Minetta May Irwin was born February 26th, 1877. She was a dressmaker. On June 30th, 1897, she was married to Alvertis Preston Marshall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Marshall, of Plumville, Pa. They moved to a farm near Denton, where they still reside. To this union four children were born: Mary Eveline, Earl LeRoy, Dee Burton, and one which died in early infancy.

Samuel Benjamin Irwin was born March 23, 1882. He helped on the farm during his boyhood days. Having a desire to go west, he made two trips through the western states, where he now resides, being employed by a lumbering firm in Oregon. He is unmarried.

Anna Mararet Irwin was born February 4th, 1884. When she was fifteen years of age, her mother died and left the care of the home to her. She kept house for her father until she was twenty-one years of age. On February 22nd, 1905, she was married to Charles Henry Stear, son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Stear, near Smicksburg, Pa.

They have two children: Dessie Susan and Samuel Merle.

Carl Emery Irwin was born February 23rd, 1886. Like his older brothers he spent his boyhood days on the farm. He afterwards made a trip through the western states. Coming east again, he found employment in the steel mills of Vandergrift, Pa. From this he went to Hazelton, taking stock in the steel mills of that place, where he still resides.

On March 6th, 1909, he was married to Martha D. Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Williams, of Hazelton, Pa.

Ethel Larne Irwin was born January 22nd, 1890. Being but nine years old when her mother died, she was left to assist her sister in keeping house for her father. After Margaret's marriage, she cared for her father's house until his second marriage.

She was married August 21st, 1907, to Silas W. Daugherty, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Daugherty, of Smicksburg. They went to housekeeping on a farm near Smicksburg, Pa. They have one child, Carl Sloan.

WILLIAM GOOD

William Good was born June 18th, 1854, being the youngest of the ten children of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Good. He spent his early life at the homestead, helping his father on the farm.

He was married to Miss Clara Gahagan, of Porter, Pa. They went to housekeeping on his father's farm, where they lived until Mr. Good died of diphtheria on September 25th, 1878, at the age of twenty-three years. He was buried in the Lutheran cemetery at Smicksburg. To this union one child was born, Harry W. Good.

Mrs. Good went back to her father's home after her husband's death where she made her home until her marriage to Mr. A. R. Duncan, of Dayton, Pa.

Harry W. Good was born August 20th, 1877, while his parents lived at Good's Mill. He was left fatherless at the age of one year, one month and five days. He made his home with his mother until his marriage to Miss Clara Neal, of Dayton, with the exception of two years which he spent in Illinois.

He inherited a one-hundred acre farm, near Dayton, from his grandgather. Here he built a house and barn and established his home. Farming has been his principal occupation, with a few side issues, such as sawing lumber, and threshing grain for the farmers in the vicinity. He has three children: Clara Luella, born April 27th, 1901; Elizabeth Viola, born March 20th, 1905, and Annice Mae, born December 25th, 1908. On July 3rd, 1907, George W. Irwin was married to Mrs. Anna Stiteler, of Smicksburg, Pa.

CHRISTIAN GOOD

Christian Good was the son of Peter Good, of Canoe Creek, Pa., and was born in Huntingdon County, Pa., August 29th, 1809. He lived with his parents on a farm until the spring of 1832, when he married Miss Nancy Stoner, of Martinsburg, Blair County, Pa. He then began farming for himself near Williamsburg, Pa. He then began farming for himself near Williamsburg, Pa. He then moved to a farm near Martinsburg, Pa., and built a large house and a large bank barn.

In 1851 he and two of his brothers-in-law took a trip to Illinois, at that time considered the Far West. They were very favorably impressed, so much so that they all bought land. Christian Good bought 160 acres of land at $4.00 per acre. This had on it a little house of four rooms and a straw stable for horses. Part of this land was under cultivation. They returned to Pennsylvania, had a public sale, and in the spring of 1852, three families with fourteen children moved to Illinois. At this date the railroad was not built farther west than Pittsburgh, Pa. They went by hack from Martinsburg to Altoona, the nearest railroad station, from there on the train to Pittsburgh, and here they took the boat. The waters were very high, the river overflowing its banks. Trees, logs and all kinds of debris came floating down, making the trip a very dangerous one. One night a log got into the water wheel, and the boatmen did not know what would happen next, so every one on the boat was hustled out of bed on short notice. The boat was jarred so much that every dish and lamp was broken, and they could not get breakfast next morning until they came to a town where they got a supply of dishes. After being on the water fourteen days, they landed at Savanna, Ills. At this place parties met them with teams and wagons and took them thirty miles across the prairie to the home of Mr. Eshelman, who was father-in-law to one of the party. He had been living there a few years in a little four-roomed cottage. Twenty-two in all spent the night in this little four-roomed log house.

Mr. Good and one brother-in-law rented a house in Brookville, five miles away, and both families lived there during the summer until they got possession of their farm. He built a large brick house and a large bank barn, for which he hauled the lumber from Rockford, a distance of forty miles. With eight in the family and the workmen, they were somewhat crowded. They had to sleep on the floor until the new house was built. They could not buy furniture or bedsteads so the carpenters made two bedsteads with ropes for springs for Mr. Good and wife and the two oldest bricklayers.

Mr. Good raised splendid crops and bought more land until he had about eight hundred acres; forty acres of this was timber land in Chambers Grove, which supplied their fuel. The balance was all prairie, some of which he bought for $1.25 per acre.

For a number of years the wolves, prairie chickens, quails and wild pigeons were very plentiful and they had all the game they wanted to eat. For several years the wild pigeons would come in clouds and light on the grain fields and take just about all the seed that had been sowed, so Mr. Good got a large net about fifteen feet wide and twenty feet long, set this in the field and made himself a house of brush in which to hide. He had one rope from there to the net and another to a decoy pigeon. He would scatter the grain around the net and pull the rope on the decoy, which would flop its wings as if just alighting, and this would draw flocks of them to the grain; then he would pull the rope on the net, and it would fall over hundreds of them. He had a building fixed in which to put them and feed them, and they got very fat so that the Goods had all the fine pigeons to eat that they wanted.

He had quite a good many hogs, but could not sell them on foot, so had to butcher them, and take the meat and grain of all kinds to Freeport, a distance of twenty miles. They also milked quite a number of cows, made butter and packed it for the market. The cattle were turned out on the prairie to pasture and they would wander for miles. They had a little spotted pony and it was Lizzie's work to start for the cows every afternoon at four o'clock on this pony. She would often ride until after dark in the summer time and then not find them. When the pony got tired it would turn around and around until Lizzie got off; then it would lie down and rest. The cattle had bells on, but they would often lie down so they could not be heard.

He had four yoke of oven with which he used to break prairie and do heavy hauling. He had brought four horses from Pennsylvania which he used for the lighter work.

Christian Good was converted at an early age and united with the Menonite Church and in 1864 he and his wife joined the River Brethren Church, and later on, all their children and their companions joined the same church with the exception of Nancy Bowers, who joined the Lutheran Church, of which her husband was a member. Later on he gave land for a church and cemetery.

As the years passed the old people failed in health. Mrs. Good had a stroke of paralysis which left her entirely helpless. They finally broke up housekeeping and lived with their daughter, Lizzie Swisher.

After his wife became helpless Mr. Good had a little low wagon with springs made for one horse, bought her a wheeled chair and by putting boards from the wagon to the ground they could wheel her in the chair up into the wagon and in this way she took great pleasure riding and visiting the other children. She remained entirely helpless for about four years when she died June 27th, 1885, at the home of her daughter, Lizzie Swisher. Her remains lie in the cemetery at Shannon, Ills.

After his wife's death, Mr. Good continued to make his home with his daughter, Lizzie. They all moved to Sedgwick, Kansas, in September, 1885. He spent most of his time visiting his children, and taking a trip now and then. While at home he spent a great deal of the time hunting and fishing. He was visiting his daughter, Anna Eshelman, in Sedgwick, Kansas, when sickness overtook him and after about five weeks he passed peacefully away January 20th, 1894, at the age of eighty-four years, four months and twenty-one days. He died with the expression: "I know that my Redeemer liveth."

DAVID S. GOOD

David Good, oldest son of Christian Good, was born November 4th, 1833, near Williamsburg, Blair County, Pa. At the age of three years with his parents moved to a farm near Martinsburg, Blair County, Penna., and in 1852 moved with his parents to Carroll County, Ills. Emery G. Swisher was born in Carroll County, Ills., November 3, 1875. He married Miss Lottie May Funk, of Wichita, Kansas, October 17th, 1899. He was book-keeper and stenographer for the Meades Cycle Company, of Wichita, Kansas, until he began railroading in 1900. He passed the examination for locomotive engineer on October 19th, 1904, and on October 23rd, 1904, was killed in a railroad wreck near Aberline, Kansas, before he could take charge of his own engine.

Mrs. Elizabeth Good Swisher died January 17th, 1910, at her home in Sedgwick.

Anna, daughter of Christian and Nancy Good, was born in Blair County, Pa., January 16th, 1850, and moved with her parents to Carroll County, Ills., in 1852. In the spring of 1875 she was married to John Eshelman of the same county. He was engaged as a carpenter for one year, then farmed one year. To this union came one daughter, Mabel, who was born in May, 1876. John Eshelman died September 15th, 1877, and Mabel died February 18th, 1878. Anna again lived with her parents until October 3rd, 1880, when she married Jacob H. Eshelman. They farmed in Carroll County, Ills., until 1885, when they moved on a farm near Sedgwick, Kansas. After several years of farming they moved into Sedgwick and resided there two years, and then moved back on the farm. In September, 1908, they again moved to town. Two children came to this home: Minnie Alice, born in Carroll County, August 30th, 1882. She married Lilden Hickerson, of Sedgwick, Kansas, December 24th, 1902. They live on a farm near Putnam, Kansas. They have a daughter, born October 12th, 1908. Harry G. Eshelman was born in Carroll County, Ills., February 1st, 1885, and married Miss Alice Bradley September 2nd, 1908, and lives on his father's farm near Sedgwick, Kansas.

William Bell.

Mrs. Elizabeth Bell.

ELIZABETH GOOD.

LIZABETH GOOD—Oldest daughter of Peter and Barbara (Harnish) Good, was born on the 13th of January, 1832. She was united in holy wedlock with William Bell, son of James Bell, of Dauphin County, Pa., whose father was a native of North Ireland and of the Scotch-Irish stock. Wm. Bell was a carpenter by trade and at the time of his marriage was in partnership with two others, and had entered into contract with the state to construct a bridge lock and dam near Flowing Spring—then in Huntingdon County—on the state canal then being built. Having purchased what was known as the Fay farm on the Juniata River, about one mile west of Williamsburg, Pa., they went thither with their first born in the spring of 1834. In the spring of 1839 he sold the farm and bought another, consisting of 219 acres, of Samuel Hartsock in Pleasant Valley, near Collinsville, Blair County, Pa.

During the winter of '61-2 his wife was stricken with paralysis from the effects of which she never fully recovered, but was quite active until the second stroke which she survived but a few days, dying on July 31st, 1866. Her body was placed in a little enclosure on the home farm. Mr. Bell was afterward married to Charlotte Manley, of Altoona, and resided on Eighth Ave., near Eleventh Street, Altoona, until his death, which occurred on August 26th, 1877. The body of his wife having been transferred from the homestead to Fairview Cemetery, his remains were placed by the side of hers, where they rested until 1908, when they were transferred to Oak Ridge Cemetery, consisting of a part of the old farm, where they had labored and joyed for so many years. His second wife died May 24th, 1903, and is buried in the same lot. A new monument and headstones have been erected, pointing to the home prepared for the faithful. They were both active members of the Lutheran Church. To them were born six children, whose histories, in outline, here follow:

David Bell was born at Flowing Springs, Blair County, Pa., November 8th, 1832. In the spring of 1834 he was taken by his parents to their new home near Williamsburg. In 1839 he was taken to what is known as the Bell homestead in Pleasant Valley—near the extension of Tenth Street, Altoona. He made this and other places in the Valley his home, excepting a few years' residence at 1103, Eighth Avenue, Altoona, for sixty-seven years. In the spring of 1907 he left the farm to enjoy for a brief time their home, No. 2624 Seventh Avenue, Altoona.

As a member of the choir, his splendid bass voice paid tribute to the First Lutheran Church, of which he had been a member. He died suddenly, August 29th, 1907, at Lakemont Park, where he was in attendance at the annual reunion of the Good-Hileman families. In politics he was a Republican. From 1876 to 1885 he served as poor director and for a number of years as school director of Logan township.

November 15th, 1855, he was married to Miss Eleanora Baker, of Bakersville, Md., who died January 8th, 1913, aged seventy-six years. To them were born six children, as follows:

(a) Ida—Died of membranous croup, aged five years.

(b) William Elias was born near Altoona, Pa., August 14th, 1858, and followed farming until the year 1907, when he moved to Altoona and engaged in the contracting business. He is unmarried. In politics he has always been a staunch Republican.

(c) Annie Elizabeth was born near Altoona March 11th, 1860, and remained with her parents on the farm until her marriage. She was married to C. M. Piper, of Altoona, October 14th, 1880. She is the mother of three boys, two having died in infancy, and Charles Melvin, the youngest, having taken a scientific course at State College, is employed by the Cambria Iron and Steel Company, of Johnstown, Pa. He married Marie Daugherty, of Altoona. To them two children have been born, John D., two years old, and Charles Melvin, the third, born October 9th, 1912.

Charles Melvin, the first, has been secretary of the school board for 13 years.

(d) Charles Luther was born near Altoona January 21st, 1862, and remained on the farm until his marriage to Annie V. Stultz, in March, 1895, after which time he moved to Altoona. He is a locomotive engineer. He is the father of two children—James S., aged sixteen, and Emily Elizabeth, four years.

(e) George Huff was born June 9th,

Rev. P. G. Bell.

1865, in Altoona. He spent the greater part of his life farming. He married Jennie Beck, of Altoona, in 1900. He is the father of one child, David A. George died November 17th, 1907.

(f) Emily Graham was born on a farm near Altoona January 26th, 1874. She remained with her parents until her marriage to B. F. Schomberg, of Altoona. She is the mother of two children, Eleanora Louise, twelve years of age, and a baby boy who died in infancy. With her sister and husband they occupy the beautiful homestead—No. 2624 Seventh Avenue, Altoona.

They are all active members of the Second Lutheran Church. Their Pastor, the Reverend A. E. Wagner, has officiated at the funerals of four generations of the Bell family.

Peter G. Bell was born March 5th, 1835, on the home farm, one mile northwest of Williamsburg, then in Huntingdon County, Pa., but afterward made a part of the newly-organized county of Blair, and on the eastern shore of the Blue Juniata. In the spring of 1839 he was taken in a canal boat by his parents to Hollidaysburg and thence by carriage to their new home in Pleasant Valley, about five miles northward and near the village of Collinsville. Between the ages of six and fourteen he attended the village school. During the three winters following he attended the Altoona Academy under the tuition of his Uncle Jacob Good and then of Reverend Samuel Domner.

In September, 1853, he entered the preparatory department of Pennsylvania College, and in 1855 the Freshman class of the College. Owing to certain rulings of the faculty, regarded as arbitrary and unjust, he transferred his course of study to Wittenburg College, Springfield, Ohio, entering the Sophomore class in September, 1856, and was graduated in 1860. Of his eleven classmates less than one-half are living on the earth. In the fall of 1860 he entered the one-year theological course under the masterful instruction of Dr. Samuel Sprecher. In August of 1861 he was married to Miss Annetta R. Hatch, of Springfield, Ohio. Her pastor, Dr. F. Scovil, officiated, assisted by Dr. Sprecher. He had been licensed to preach by the Miami Synod. They spent the winter with his parents in Pleasant Valley near Altoona, during which time his mother suffered her first stroke of paralysis.

In April, 1862, he accepted a call to the Tarentum charge, consisting of five organizations, three in Allegheny and two in Westmoreland County, Pa. The three years of this pastorate were made difficult by the war. The evil spirit of disloyalty sorely tormented the church, requiring as great or greater courage on the part of the pastor or preacher as by the soldier on the field of battle. During the spring of 1864 he gave about six weeks of richest service to the Christian Commission in the Army of the Cumberland. His diary will show much of interest.

In April, 1865, he took charge of a mission consisting of Newcastle and Richwood Churches, Indiana. They became self-supporting at the close of the second year. In the spring of 1870 he located in Polo, Ills., where he was used as a divinely chosen agent in effecting a splendid organization with a membership of over one hundred and a splendid edifice costing about $20,000, now worth $40,000. It stands today as perhaps the best work of his life, with a membership of several hundred and one of the best church properties in the west. In 1875 he took charge in Springfield, Ills. Although reasonably successful, at the end of two years he resigned, owing principally to sickness in the family, and returned to New Castle, Ind., where his wife's mother and others of the family still lived, refusing to take charge, but agreeing to serve them for a time.

Early in the year 1879 a call came to him unexpectedly from Indiana, Pa., which he accepted. The charge consisted of two churches, one in the town and one six miles north, known as Grove Chapel. Having suffered impairment of health as the result of overwork in connection with the building of a church in town and the new construction of the parsonage, he resigned September 1st, 1883. From that time he resided in Altoona, excepting one year's residence in Pittsburgh, until the death of his wife, after an illness of twelve years with paralysis agitans, on Sabbath morning, February 17th, 1901. In the meantime he served at intervals, several churches in Indiana and Westmoreland Counties, and the Millville Church, Altoona, Pa. After her death he served the church of Mahaffey, Clearfield County, for nearly four years and since that has not taken charge, but has continued to do supply work, helping the vacant churches to secure pastors and rendering help as best he could wherever needed.

During this period the nearest approach to a home has been a room which he leased and which he furnished with some of the old articles made dear by association. The greater portion of the last six years has been spent abroad. The only serious accident to him happened October 23rd, 1905, when he fell about thirty feet from a ladder from which he was picking apples, resulting in the permanent loss of the use of his right arm. By a loving providence his life was spared. During his ministry hundreds have been brought into the fold, three churches have been organized and four church buildings erected. He has been president of the Olive Branch and Northern Illinois Synods and has served the church as delegate to the General Synod several times and in almost every position of responsibility in the work of the church. He is now in his seventy-ninth year, and hopes that the Lord will give him a few years yet to preach His precious gospel. Wherever he has been, but few Sabbaths have passed without the luxury of preaching the Word.

To them were given three children, as follows:

Ida May, born June 20th, 1862, at the home of her parents in Springfield, Ohio, and soon afterward taken by her parents to their home in Tarentum, Allegheny County, Pa. She was graduated from the Seminary at Hagerstown, Md. She was united in marriage to Frank W. Spaulding, a druggist, in Altoona, Pa., September 4th, 1888, by Reverend E. D. Weigle, D. D., pastor of the First Lutheran church, to which they belonged. Owing to the death of his brother, they removed to Norridgewock, Maine, May 1st, 1890, taking the store of his deceased brother, which he still conducts. They are both active members of the Congregational Church. To them were born three children: Annetta Bell, January 24th, 1890; Frederick Henry, December 20th, 1892, now a student at Bates College, Leweston, Maine; Gladys May, October 5th, 1895; Margaret Adessa, May 26th, 1900.

WARNER HATCH BELL

Warner Hatch Bell, son of Peter Good Bell and Annetta Rose Hatch Bell, was born in New Castle, Ind., June 10th, 1865. He received a public school education, followed by two years' tutorage by Professor J. A. Stewart in Altoona, Pa., as a college preparatory course. He abandoned his college plans in 1885 in favor of newspaper reporting for the Altoona Times. One year later he went to Pittsburgh and joined the staff of the Pittsburgh Post. He became city editor of the Post in 1889. He was among the first newspaper men to reach the scene of the Johnstown flood and remained on duty there for six weeks.

On his return to Pittsburgh, or in September, 1889, he married Drucilla Holland, who was born in Virginia December 22nd, 1872. They removed to Indiana, Pa., in 1890, where Mr. Bell was to take charge of a new weekly newspaper, The Gazette. A daughter, Helen Drucilla, was born there November 15th, 1891. They removed to Altoona in April, 1892, to establish, in conjunction with Mr. Bell's brother, Frank, father and uncles, James and Thomas, the Gazette, a daily newspaper which is still in existence.

Mrs. Bell died January 25th, 1902, in Hollidaysburg. Mr. Bell removed to Philadelphia in 1903, joining the staff of the North American. He removed to New York in 1906, taking a position with the New York American. He became connected with the advertising staff of John Wanamaker, New York, in July, 1910. In May, 1912, he removed to Boston, taking the position of advertising manager for the new store of William Filene's Sons Company, which store was opened September 3rd, 1912.

FRANK W. BELL

Frank William Bell was born January 23rd, 1871, at Polo, Illinois, and later removed with his parents to Springfield, Ill.; to New Castle, Ind., and to Indiana and Altoona, Pa. He attended the public schools at Indiana and Altoona, Pa., and Wittenberg College at Springfield, Ohio.

At 17 he became a reporter on the Altoona Times, and after six months went to Pittsburgh, where he was connected in turn with the Times, the Post, the Chronicle-Telegraph and the Dispatch. He was one of the founders of the Altoona Gazette in April, 1892, and was editor of that paper until May, 1899, when he became political editor of the Philadelphia North American. After occupying that post for six years, until May, 1905, he went to Harrisburg as managing editor of the Telegraph. That position he resigned three years later to devote himself to general newspaper correspondence and other work.

Mr. Bell was secretary of the Capitol Investigation Commission created by the Legislature of 1907 to investigate charges of graft in the equipment of the Pennsylvania State Capitol, the outcome of the investigation being the conviction of two State officials, the contractor and the architect, of conspiracy, and the recovery of a million and a half dollars. He is a member of the Union League of Philadelphia. His wife was formerly Miss Sara B. Jamison, a daughter of John C. Jamison, of Pittsburgh. They were married April 5th, 1898. They regard Harrisburg as their permanent home.

JAMES M. BELL

James M. Bell, third child born to William Bell and Elizabeth Good Bell at the farm near Williamsburg, Pa., October 1st, 1837. He moved with his parents to Hartzog farm, adjoining the now City of Altoona in 1839. He remained on the farm until 1857, then went to Wittenburg College, Springfield, Ohio. He was graduated in June, 1862. He enlisted in the volunteer service as first lieutenant Eighty-sixth Ohio Volunteer Infantry, June 10th, 1862; honorably mustered out September 25th, 1862. He served with provisional Pennsylvania Troops in June, 1863. He was captain of Independent Troop of Company from June 30th, 1863, to August 9th, 1863. He was honorably mustered out after the retreat of Lee's army from Gettysburg. He was Captain of the Thirteenth Pennsylvania Volunteer Company from October 8th, 1863, to July 14th, 1865. Served as Colonel of the Twenty-seventh United States Volunteer Infantry from July 5th, 1899, to January 20th, 1900. He was Brigadier General United States Volunteers from January 20th, 1900, to June 20th, 1901.

Gen'l Jas. M. Bell.

His service in the regular army follows: Second Lieutenant Seventh U. S. Cavalry, July 28th, 1866; First Lieutenant Seventh U. S. Cavalry, April 2nd, 1867; Captain Seventh U. S. Cavalry, June 25th, 1876; Major First U. S. Cavalry, May 23rd, 1896; Lieutenant Colonel Eighth U. S. Cavalry, January 10th, 1900; Colonel Eighth U. S. Cavalry, March 24th, 1901; Brigadier General U. S. A., September 17th, 1901; retired as Brigadier General October 1st, 1901.

He was engaged in the following battles during the Civil War: Wilderness, Spottsylvania Court House, Guinea Station, North Ann River, Cold Harbor, Chickahomany, Charles City, Cross Roads, Deep Bottom, Ream's Station, Coggin's Point, Hotchin's Run and Raleigh.

He was but once wounded. He was present at the surrender of General Joseph E. Johnson to General Sherman at Durham Station, North Carolina. He served on the frontier from 1866 to 1898, with the exception of four years. He participated in the campaigns against the hostile tribes of Cheyennes, Arapahoes in Kansas, Indian Territory and Texas in 1867, '68 and '69.

He engaged in the Sioux War in Dakota,

Wyoming and Montana from 1873 to 1881; in Nez Perce War of 1877, and against hostile Apaches in Arizona in 1895 and '96. He participated in fifteen engagements with hostile Indians. He was agent of the Ogala Sioux at Pine Ridge, South Dakota, in 1886. He assisted in guarding the construction of the Union Pacific, Northern Pacific and Great Northern Railroads. He assisted in locating the Forty-ninth parallel between the United States and British possessions.

He took part in the Cuban campaign in 1898 and was wounded at the battle of Las Quassimus. He served in the Philippines as Colonel Twenty-seventh Volunteer Infantry and Brigadier General of Volunteers. He commanded Bell's Expeditionary Brigade and the Third District of the Department of Luzon of which he was also Military Governor. He took part in numerous engagements. Brevetted Captain, Major and Lieutenant Colonel for gallant services.

He was married to Emily Mary Hones March 12th, 1872. They had no children.

Emily Mary Hones Bell was born in London, England, March 12th, 1851, and emigrated to the United States with her parents in 1860.

By request the following historical sketches are inserted:

Early in June, 1863, the Confederate troops defeated the Union forces in the Shenandoah Valley and exposed Pennsylvania to invasion. General Lee directed General Imboden, with three thousand troops, cavalry, infantry and artillery, to make a raid into the western central part of the State, destroy the railroad shops at Altoona and tear up the road as far as possible east and west of that point in order to prevent a concentration of Union troops from the west against the movement of his army into the state. There were no troops in Western Pennsylvania to oppose Imboden's raid. The people were greatly alarmed and many of the farmers drove their horses and cattle into the mountains for safety. Silver and other valuables were buried. A company of volunteers was hastily raised in Altoona with Colonel Zinc in command, which I joined, and was sent at once to McConnellsburg, where it was expected Imboden would cross the mountain from the Cumberland Valley. Here two highways, leading from the Valley, cross the mountain a half mile or more apart and unite at McConnellsburg. At the foot of the mountain the small force was divided and one detachment placed on each road at the summit of the mountain. Temporary defences were made of loose rock. The positions had been occupied but a short while when the rebel troops were seen slowly winding up the mountain on the south road. Colonel Zinc, with whom I was, on the north crossing, directed me to proceed by a narrow trail through the brush along the crest of the mountain and order the detachment on the south road to fall back to McConnellsburg, deeming it useless to attempt any defense with so small a force. When I emerged from the brush instead of finding our own troops I was confronted by the cavalry advance guard of Imboden, only a few yards away.

My first impulse was to surrender, but I was riding a fine young mare of my father's and did not want her to fall into their hands; so quick as thought I turned her head, plied the spur and dashed down the steep mountain road. The guard at once opened fire on me, but I was descending so rapidly that the shots passed over my head. The mare was much frightened and when about half way down the mountain, while rounding a sharp curve, she fell and rolled with me down a bank into the brush. Here again my first thought was to make my escape through the brush, but the thought of losing the mare changed my purpose and, scrambling up the bank with her, I mounted and escaped to the village. Here I found a detachment of about twenty-five men, belonging to a Pennsylvania Cavalry regiment, I think the Twelfth, to whom I explained the situation and we at once started up the mountain to meet the enemy.

The men were instructed when we met to charge, fire as rapidly as possible and yell at the top of their voices, so as to give the impression of a large force. The road was tortuous and lined with heavy timber and underbrush, restrictory to range of sight. As we rounded a sharp bend in the road we came face to face with the mounted advance guard.

A charge was made, fire was opened and a yell as if it came from a thousand throats reverberated through the mountain fastnesses. The advance guard, with several empty saddles, hastily retreated up the mountain.

General Imboden was convinced that a strong force confronted him and if he crossed the mountain his retreat might be cut off, and retreated into the Cumberland Valley.

By this little ruse twenty-five men caused the retreat of three thousand raiders, saved the county from being devastated and the Altoona shops and the Pennsylvania railroad from probable destruction.

I joined the Seventh United States Cavalry at Fort Riley, Kansas, in 1867. In March, 1867, I was sent across the plains with a detachment of recruits for the various posts along the Smoky Hill River stage line running to Denver. When about 200 miles west of Riley I saw my first buffalo. I encountered a herd of hundreds of thousands through which I marched for three days—a distance of seventy-five miles.

I arrived at Fort Wallace, Kansas, the latter part of April and there joined the troop to which I had been assigned. The Indians had become hostile and were making trouble for the stage lines, for two hundred miles, having killed the keepers, driven off the stock and burned the stations. They attacked Fort Wallace and twice tried hard to capture it, but with our small force we drove them off. It was a strenuous and trying summer. We suffered much from lack of proper rations. The cholera broke out in the post and caused a number of deaths. Soldiers and citizens were killed by the Indians, so that the cemetery which was unoccupied in April, by October had over sixty graves.

It was decided in the fall to rebuild the burned stations and re-establish the route with small guards at each station, which were about ten miles apart. I was detailed with a detachment of soldiers to do the work. After completing it I went on to Denver, remaining there a few days. I started back to my post, arriving at a station just west of the danger zone. I found there three soldiers, left there by a west-bound stage; also a sick man belonging to the station guard, who had to be taken to the post for treatment.

The wife of the station keeper, who had been through the dangers and trials of the summer, wanted to go east and asked to be allowed to go with us. I warned her of the danger of none of us reaching our destination, but she determined to take the chances, so we started. The day was fine. The curtains of the coach were rolled up. A bed was made on top for the sick man and the other men sat there with him.

Arriving at a point five miles from Big Timber Station and while crossing the wide sandy bed of Dry Creek we were startled by a volley that was poured into us by a party of twenty-five or thirty Indians, partially concealed in a washout. The coach was riddled with bullets. I caught the woman by the collar and pushed her to the bottom of the coach and opened fire upon the Indians, as did the men from the top of the coach. As soon as we got out of the heavy sand I called to the men to get to the ground and I opened the door to do the same, when the sick man slid down from the top of the stage through the open door and said:

“D——! I am shot. Tell my mother—”

But there was no time for messages. I told him to lie down on the seat and jumped to the ground. Fortunately we killed three of the Indians before they could mount their ponies and get out of the range of our fire. Another one was killed later. They rode around in front of us and fired on us from the ravines as we advanced.

For five miles the fight kept up until we reached Big Timber Station, when they gave up the pursuit. I then opened the door of the coach and told the woman, who was still lying on the floor, that we were now safe and she could get out, which she did, and as she did so she coolly remarked, "But I have not seen the Indians yet." I pointed them out to her when they had assembled, just out of range of our guns. She then told her experience during the hour and a half that she had lain on the floor of the coach. The wounded soldier had died a few minutes after he entered, and every time the coach struck a depression in the road the dead body would roll off the seat on top of her and she would have to struggle to shove it back onto the seat. She heard the firing all the time and did not know what minutes the Indians might capture the coach.

We were still twenty-five miles from Wallace, but made the journey without further molestation, most of the way by boat.

Nancy Jane Bell was born November 10th, 1840. She married Eliphas P. Miller November 6th, 1860. She died August 2nd, 1909, in Kansas City, Mo., of inward cancer. She was the mother of three children: William, a Pullman conductor, Kansas City, Mo.; Emmett, a farmer near Paolo, Kansas, with two children, and David, deceased.

Gabriel Thomas Bell, born June 10th, 1845; died April 15th, 1906. During the nearly sixty-one years of his life he made his home on the old homestead in Pleasant Valley, Blair County. Perhaps the most heroic deed of his life occurred in 1862, described by the editor of the Altoona Tribune as a "magnificent balloon ascension." Starting from Chestnut Avenue and Ninth Street, Altoona, and alighting on the farm of Mrs. Bell, adjoining the borough of Hollidaysburg. Time—one hour and ten minutes; maximum height, 15,200 feet.

In 1879 he received the Republican nomination for sheriff of Blair County and was elected by a thousand majority. In 1894 he was again elected sheriff and in 1903, without precedent, was elected for the third term by the united vote of both Republican and Democratic parties, during which he was fatally seized with cirrhosis of the liver. He was married in 1875 to Emily Husfield, who died of tuberculosis in 1881.

It was said of him that his sympathetic nature, his kindness and open-heartedness made him rich in friends but poor in gold.

His body lies in the family plot in Oakridge Cemetery in the good soil which so often yielded its fruit and grain to his husbandry. At the age of eighteen he enlisted in the State Militia and served three months in the Civil War. He then re-enlisted and served to the end of the war in Company A, Two Hundred and Fifth Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry, as Sargeant.

Adessa Bell Walton, the youngest child of William and Elizabeth Bell, was born October 19th, 1848. She was married to Louis Walton on June 11th, 1868. Mr. Walton was the son of Louis and Elizabeth Walton, of Philadelphia, Pa. He had been in the employ of the Pennsylvania Railroad as clerk in the Motive Power Department until his death on November 5th, 1890, residing at 1107 Eighth Avenue.

After the death of her husband Mrs. Walton had no permanent home, but with her daughter, Elizabeth, for whom she seemed to live, she divided the greater part of her time between the home of her son in New Mexico and the old Bell homestead in Pleasant Valley, Pa., to which she was so strongly attached.

It seems like a beautiful, if not a providential coincidence, that on the 10th day of March, here in the very place of her birth, she passed into unconsciousness and having been taken to the Altoona Hospital, passed away the next day at 2 p. m., without returning to consciousness, being in the sixty-fifth year of her age. After a beautiful service, conducted at the home of her son, Louis, on West Chestnut Avenue, Altoona, by Dr. A. E. Wagner, pastor of the Second Lutheran Church, of which she was one of the charter members, her body was placed by the side of that of her husband in Oak Ridge Cemetery.

To them were born three children, namely:

(a) William B. was born January 23rd, 1871, and educated in the public schools of Altoona. Here he first entered the department of journalism and afterward edited the Silver City Independent. In 1892 he was admitted to the bar of Grant County,

New Mexico, and before its admission as a state he served two terms in the Legislature and also in minor offices of public trust. He is now a member of the State Senate.

In 1893 he was married to Miss Caroline Ashenfelter, of Deming, New Mexico. Their children are: Lon Eda, aged eighteen years; Leona Etta, aged sixteen years; both at West Lake school, Los Angeles, Cal.; and William Bell, aged nine years, at home.

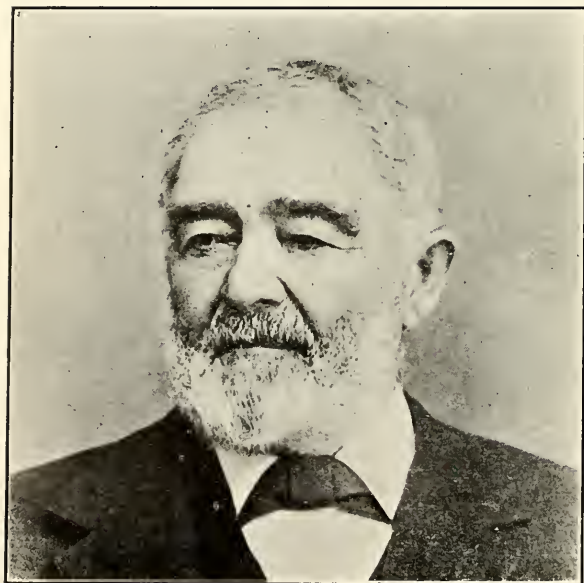

(b) Louis Stockton, born in Altoona in January, 1877. He was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania, in June, 1902. After a year's residence in the Western Pennsylvania Hospital he practised general medicine in Pittsburgh until 1909, but preferring a specialty he equipped himself by a special course and returned to his native town, and continues to reside there with offices in the Central Trust Building, Altoona, Pa. On August 2nd, 1904, he married Angelina McCray, of Uniontown. On the October 23rd, 1910, Louis Stockton, Jr., came to grace their home.

(c) Elizabeth Bell Walton was born October 28th, 1882, and was married to Jack Gage Stark, of Kansas City, Mo., in 1908. Their residence is in Silver City, New Mexico.

Barbara, the second daughter of Peter and Margaret Good, married William Hileman. For their history see Part II of this volume.

Peter Good, the third, son of Peter and Margaret, was born at Canoe Creek, Blair County, Pa., November 17th, 1816. He remained at home on the farm until of age, having advantage of the district school. Desiring a change of occupation he went to Indiana County, where he enlisted in the store business, but after several years he sold out and started store keeping at Canoe Creek. Later on he bought his father's farm and operated it until the Spring of 1856. Owing in part to the ague scourge on the Juniata, to which he was subject, he decided to leave the old farm and bought another in what is now Logan Township, near Eldorado—known as the Big Spring farm—and became one of the leading farmers of the Township. In connection with this he bought a grist mill, which he operated until the City of Altoona appropriated the stream supplying the power—for which he was justly compensated.

He remained on the farm until 1881, when he decided that the time was at hand for his retirement from the heavy work of the farm, and by purchase arranged for a comfortable home on Allegheny Street, Hollidaysburg, Pa., where during the extended evening of his earthly life he might, with his companion, enjoy the conveniences of church and town.

He was married to Rebecca Hileman, daughter of Frederick Hileman, December 10th, 1845. To them seven children were born, two dying in infancy, and a son, Alvin, in his youth, of diphtheria. William H. and Anna M. are still living.

The subject of this sketch, although limited in education, was well endowed, and useful in the church and as a citizen. They were both liberal and active members of the Lutheran Church, in which he was an officer for many years, and which he frequently represented at conference and the synod, of which he served as treasurer. He also served the county as poor director.

He passed away in 1895. The wife and mother continued to occupy the home for several years, when she broke up house-keeping and homed with her children until her death in 1895. Their bodies both lie in the Cemetery in Hollidaysburg.

Wm. Howard Good, son of Peter and Rebecca Good was born in 1856 at Eldorado, Blair County, Pa. His home training in the district school was supplemented by a partial course at the State Normal, of California, Pa. Preferring the life of a farmer he undertook the operation of his father's farm in 1876. In 1880 he married Levenia S. Stiffler, daughter of Sheriff James M. Stiffler.

To this union eleven children were born, ten of whom are living as follows.

Peter S., married to Bertie Irwin, daughter of Wm. Irwin, of Canon Station, and is engaged in the retail milk business. Mary Olive is married to Earnest Gains and resides in Altoona and is an employee of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, and has two children, Mary Lavenia and Frederick Robert. James M., Frank H., Rebecca, Adelaide, Florence S., Frederick A., Pearl and Russell are all at home with their parents, but Frank is employed in the city. Parents

ABRAHAM GOOD

ABRAHAM GOOD, the third son of Christian and Barbara Alvey Guth (that being the way they spelled their name in those days), was born in Maryland, January 3rd, 1799. He came to Pennsylvania in his young days and lived near Frankstown, Pa., until about the year 1831 or 1832, when he came to Indiana County and settled on a farm of 213 acres one-half mile southeast of Smicksburg, Pa., where he lived until his death.

He was married to Miss Margaret Burket, June 17th, 1818. Of this union eleven children were born: Christian, Peter, Abraham, Isaac, Eliza, Nancy, John, Margaret, Samuel, David and Sarah. Three of these children, Eliza, John and Sarah, died young within two or three days of each other and are buried at Smicksburg, Pa.

Abraham Good died September 9th, 1855, at the age of 56 years, 3 months and 6 days. His wife died January 31st, 1864.

Christian Good, the oldest son of Abraham and Margaret (Burket) Good, was born near Frankstown, Pa. He came to Indiana County with his parents, and on April 2nd, 1846, he married Miss Eleanor Dizard Smiley, of West Mahoning township.

After the death of his father, he settled on the old homestead, where he followed the occupation of farming until about the year of 1869 or 1870, when he and Frank Elkin went into the mercantile business in Smicksburg. He remained in this business until the year of 1877, when he sold out and went to farming again until the year 1882, when he again went into the mercantile business in Smicksburg. In 1884 he took his young son, D. D. Good, into partnership. He remained in this business until August 21st, 1893, when he sold out his interest to his son, D. D. Good, spending the remainder of his days in Smicksburg.

Mrs. Good died May 26th, 1874, aged fifty-three years and seven months.

Mr. Good was married the second time to Margaret Kirkpatrick, June 17th, 1875. She was born March 30th, 1832, and died July 27th, 1904, and was buried in the Glade Run Cemetery in Armstrong County, Pa. There were no children by the second wife. She was a member of the Glade Run Presbyterian Church.

Mr. Good died Sept. 16th, 1901, aged eighty years, nine months and twenty days. He and his first wife are buried in the Smicksburg Lutheran Cemetery and their graves are marked with tombstones. They were both members of the Lutheran Church.

Lettie May Good, nee Casedy, was born February 22nd, 1867. David Diehl Good remained in the mercantile business from 1884 until 1907, in December, when he sold out and moved to Airlie, Oregon, where he went into the lumber business, known as the Pedee Lumber Company.

Arthur Christian Good was born July 17th, 1892.

Ida Marie Good was born June 30th, 1897; died August 1st, 1899, aged two years one month and one day.

David Dee Good was born May 13th, 1901.

Peter Good, the second son of Abraham and Margaret Good, was born near Franks-town, Pa., November 24th, 1822. He came to Indiana County, Pa., with his parents and lived on the old homestead one-half mile southeast of Smicksburg. He and Christian Good, owning the old farm in partnership, until about the year 1870, when he sold out to Christian and J. F. Stiteler. Then he moved to Armstrong County, where he bought a farm two miles south of Dayton, where he followed the occupation of farming and stock raising until his death.

He married Miss Margaret C. Marshall,

May 2nd, 1861. To this union four children were born: David Marshall, John Burket, Calvin Stewart and Archie Abraham.

Peter Good died January 8th, 1896, and his wife died January 7th, 1901. They are buried in the Smicksburg Cemetery, and their graves are marked with a tombstone. Both were members of the Lutheran Church.

David Marshall Good was born near Smicksburg July 6th, 1863. He moved with his parents to the farm where he now resides, having been a farmer all his life. January 31st, 1901, he married Miss Mary Burns from near Barnards, Armstrong County, Pa. To this union two children were born.

John Burket Good was born September 17th, 1865, near Smicksburg and moved with his parents to the farm in Armstrong County. He later moved to Dayton. In the spring of 1891 he and A. J. Gourley purchased the general store of C. S. Marshall and in the spring of 1898 Mr. Good sold his interest to O. H. Good, and in 1900 engaged in the meat market business. In 1905 he disposed of the meat market and formed a partnership with his brother, D. M. Good and S. W. Marshall and since then they have been engaged in the lumber business.

He married Miss Nellie Miliron, of Dayton, August 22nd, 1900. To this union four children were born: Denton, A., born May 14th, 1901; Martha M., born January 19th, 1905; John E., born April 20th, 1906, Anzanelta E., born February 15th, 1910.

Calvin Stewart Good was born near Smicksburg, August 16th, 1867, and moved to the farm in Armstrong County with his parents, where he attended the public school. He then attended the Glade Run Academy, of which Rev. Mecklin was the teacher. At the close of his school education he spent a year traveling in the west. On August 23rd, 1893, he was married to Miss Minnie B. Gallagher, at her mother's home in Dayton, Rev. Mecklin officiating. They joined the Glade Run Church in 1896, she being a member of St. Michael's Episcopal Church. To this union two children were born: Miriam Crisannah, August 26th, 1894, and James Peter, April 7th, 1902. Both were born near Dayton.

In 1894 he went to housekeeping on one of his father's farms, known as the W. W. Marshall farm, which he now owns and successfully farms. He owns and raises some of the finest horses in the neighborhood. He bought the old Dr. Crouch property in Dayton in April, 1899, and moved into Dayton October 22nd, 1901. He there opened a livery stable which is one of the finest equipped in Western Pennsylvania.

Archie Abraham, the youngest child, died when quite young.

Abraham Good, the third son of Abraham and Margaret Good, was born near Frankstown, Blair County, Pa., October 13th, 1824. He came to Indiana County with his parents. April 26th, 1854, he married Miss Hannah C. Irwin, of near Dayton. She was born March 14th, 1821, and died June 4th, 1890. To this union five children were born, four boys and a girl: Alonza K; Adolphus C., Rosa I., Elmer E. and Ulysses. Just four years after the death of his first wife, Abraham again married, this time to Caroline Marshall, of Dayton, June 4th, 1894. She died August 20th, 1904. No children.

Abraham Good first went to housekeeping on a farm in Indiana County, Pa., along the little Mahoning, where he followed farming. Later he sold that farm and bought one in Armstrong County, north of Dayton. This was about the year 1863. He also purchased another farm and owned a house and lot in Dayton, where he spent the remaining years of his life.

During the latter part of his life he filled several Township offices, and also served as trustee and elder of the Glade Run Presbyterian Church, of which he was a member. He died February 19th, 1907, aged eighty-two years, four months and six days.

Alonza K. Good, oldest son of Abraham and Hannah Good, was born August 28th, 1855, near the mouth of the little Mahoning River in Indiana County. He moved with his parents to Armstrong County in the spring of 1863. On June 12th, 1879, he married Miss Isabelle F. Jewell, who was born June 22, 1856. To this union four children were born: James A., March 8th, 1883; Thomas G., born August 17th, 1885; Franklin J., born February 14th, 1887; Edward C., born September 30th, 1888. All are single.

Adolphus C. Good, second son of Abraham and Hannah Good, was born December 19th, 1856, in Indiana County, Pa. He moved to Armstrong County with his parents, where he received his preparatory education in Glade Run Academy from 1873 to 1876. He graduated from the Washington and Jefferson College in 1879 and from the Western Theological Seminary in 1882. In June, 1882, he was ordained by the Presbytery of Kittanning. He chose the Dark Continent as his field of labor and sailed for Africa September 18th, 1882. He was assigned to Baraka station. On June 21st, 1883, he married Lydia B. Walker, who was also an African Missionary. To this union one child was born: Albert, in Africa. In 1884 he was transferred to the Ogowe River District, where he did the greater part of his mission work. Largely through his efforts to the one church existing there in 1884, three others were added.

During the last year on the Ogowe, he revised the entire New Testament in the Mopongue language. He also made some valuable contributions to natural history by sending several specimens of birds, animals and insects to Chancelon Hooland, of the Western University of Pennsylvania.

Adolphus Good died December 13th, 1894, at Efulen, West Africa, and was buried there. His only son, Albert, was graduated from the Wooster University in 1906 and from the Western Theological Seminary in 1909. In August of the same year he sailed for Africa to take up the same work in which his father had been engaged. For further account see history of his life.

PART II.
THE HILEMAN FAMILY

MICHAEL HILEMAN, Sr.

HERE this sturdy German was born, no one seems to know, but there is a tradition that he was born in Germany (this, however, cannot be verified). According to researches made by Rev. Lee M. Heilman (now deceased), in a book containing the records of emigrants landed at Baltimore, Md., but later in the possession of some library in Chicago, were the names of three Hileman men—Christian, Andrew and one other—recorded in their own hand-writng. The date of landing was 1752. Of these three, we have knowledge of only one—Christian—who with his wife and son, Peter, aged about two years, sailed from Germany for the New World; but on the voyage the wife was swept from the ship by a great wave and was lost at sea.

It is thought that Christian Heilman married again and that Michael Hileman was a half-brother to Peter Heilman (notice the placing of letters in spelling their names—the correct way, according to German being Heilman).

Christian and Andrew are family names in the Michael Hileman lineage, and this leads us to the conclusion that it is very likely to be correct.

Michael Hileman was born September 30th, 1756, and lived to be almost ninety-three years old, dying on September 6th, 1849. We have possession of a license granted to him in York County, Pennsylvania, in 1798 to distill his grain, which in those years was the most profitable owing to the great distance from market. In the year 1808 Michael Hileman was tax collector of Frankstown Township, then Huntingdon County, Pa., so that between the years 1798 and 1808, probably 1802, he came to Frankstown, now in Blair County. The remainder of his life was spent on this farm. Among his many descendants, not one of whom to my knowledge knows his first wife's maiden name. She was born October 1st, 1767, and died October 1st, 1824, and with Michael, her husband, is sleeping in Geeseytown Cemetery, near Frankstown. They had a large family, all of whom grew to a marriageable age.

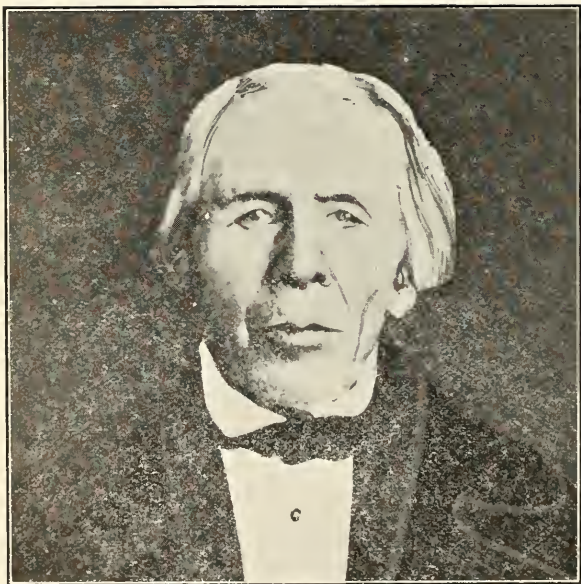

The names of the children are as follows: Glory, married to Jacob R. Bouslough, John Hileman, Frederick Hileman, Henry Hileman, George Hileman, Rebecca Mileman married to Samuel Good, Michael Hileman, Mary Hileman married to Philip Bridenbaugh, Daniel Hileman, Philip Hileman, Elizabeth Hileman married to Henry Leamer, Catherine Hileman married to John Kemberling, David Hileman and Joseph Hileman. In 1830, March 23rd, an Article of Agreement was drawn between Michael Hileman of the first part and Margaret Koofer, widow, of the second part: "Witnesseth, that they have agreed to enter into the bonds of wedlock," etc. His second wife is also buried at Geeseytown, the grave having erected on it a marker stating that Margaret Hileman is buried there, having been born December 10th and died June 30th, 1860. This grave is in the plot of Mr. Isaac Slippey.

Michael Hileman at one time owned much land in the vicinity of Frankstown, and some of the farms in Turkey Valley were owned by him. The plot of ground on which the old Geeseytown Church was built was deeded by him and wife for church purposes, and as the cemetery is so close to the old church lot, he may also have owned that. In the history of Juniata Valley, written by U. J. Jones, page 267, mention is made of a Mr. Hileman having found the dead body of the Indian who shot William Moore, at McCahen's Bottom, half a mile west of Hollidaysburg. This occurred in August, 1778, and as Michael Hileman at that time was twenty-two years old, he may have been looking for a place to locate and may possibly be the person mentioned by U. J. Jones.

Michael Hileman's will is recorded in Blair County three years before his death. In his will he is more liberal with his wife than in Article of Agreement drawn before their marriage, as in addition to $100, her choice of cow, and bed and bedding, he willed to her the interest of $400 during her natural life, and directed his son, Joseph, who was on the homestead farm, to give to her twenty bushels of marketable wheat, with use of part of house for one year, which he occupied at the time of his death. Mrs. Hileman died at her daughter's home, Mrs. Gesey, a short distance east of Geeseytown.

Jacob R. Bouslough.

Glory (Hileman) Bouslough.

GLORY B. HILEMAN

LORY BOUSLOUGH HILEMAN was the oldest child of Michael and Mary Hileman and married Jacob R. Bouslough, who died January 27th, 1857, aged seventy-five years, one month and twenty-five days. His wife died June 24th, 1863, aged seventy-eight years, seven months and twenty-three days. These two, with many of the relatives, are buried in the cemetery at Geeseytown, Pa.

To them were born twelve children:

John was born August 8th, 1807, and years ago was a resident of Gaysport, Pa.

Joseph was born March 23rd, 1809, and never married. He died March 25th, 1878.

Michael was born February 17th, 1811, and died July 21st, 1851.

Henry was born October 24th, 1812, and died February 15th, 1848.

Daniel was born March 17th, 1814, and died August 7th, 1834.

Mary Ann married Solomon Wertz and the following children were born to them: J. B., Calvin, Philip, Phlegm, Mrs. Milton Hileman, Mrs. Maggie McCune, Mrs. James Loudon, Mrs. Ida Tippery, Mrs. Lenore Wagner and Miss Lula Wertz.

William Bouslough was born near Hollidaysburg and lived the greater part of his life on a farm in Frankstown Township, which he inherited from his father. He was a member of the Lutheran Church and a very faithful attendant. He was twice married. His first wife was Eliza Young, to whom were born five children, all of whom died in infancy except Blair Young, who married Kate Ehrenfeldt, they having four children, all of whom died in infancy except Lida, who died in girlhood. Kate Ehrenfeldt Bouslough died in 1907. William Bouslough's first wife died April 17th, 1854, aged twenty-seven years, five months and nine days. He was afterward married to An Fleck and to them were born six children, as follows:

(a) Mary Catherine Stewart had one son, William Roy, now living at Turtle Creek, Pa. Mrs. Stewart died February 5th, 1890.

(b) Harry Fleck Bouslough married Catherine Wertz and has six children: William Mervin, married to Martha E. Culp, lives in Hollidaysburg; Olive May, Frank Clayton, Harry Claire, Mabel Catherine and Jesse Marion, at home with the parents near Hollidaysburg.

(c) Sadie Ellsworth Bouslough married Robert A. Hileman and resides in Sinking Valley. To this union were born three children, two living—William Earl and Harriet Ruth, at home. Robert Leland died in infancy.

(d) Anna Margaret married Fletcher Hand and resides in Long Branch, California.

(e) William Wilbur Bouslough married Happy O. Caldwell and to them were born three children: Anna Cornelia, Ralph W. S. and Nicholas Fleck, all at home on the old homestead farm, a short distance from Hollidaysburg.

(f) Eliza Jane, youngest child of William and Ann Bouslough, died on the homestead farm May 13th, 1895, in her twenty-fifth year.

The eighth child of Jacob R. and Glory Bouslough was Philip, of whom there is no record, except that one son, A. L., of Mendota, Ill., and a daughter, Mrs. Henrietta Miller, of Petersburg, Pa., and a second son, Calvin, of Altoona.

Joshua was born October 30th, 1821, and died February 26th, 1844.

Samuel was born October 11th, 1823, and there is no record of the family except that one daughter, Gertrude, and his widow are living at Shabbona, Ill.

The eleventh child, Jesse, married Sarah Ott, February 18th, 1851. Mrs. Bouslough died in April, 1886, leaving ten children: Mrs. Jennie Wirt, now living in Nebraska. Her daughter married a man by the name of Miller and Mrs. Miller has one son, Lynn, a youth of eighteen years, who lives with his parents at Lincoln, Neb. The second child of Jesse Bouslough, Mrs. Mary Thayer, was the mother of one child, Ethel. Mrs. Thayer was left a widow and married a Mr. Hunt and now resides in Iowa. Two children were born to this second marriage—Clarence and Howard, young men who live with their parents. The third child of Jesse and Sarah was twice married. To the first marriage were born two daughters—Jessie, who married William Thelo, living in Mendota, Ill., and has a little daughter. Geneva, the second child, is married and lives in Dixon, Ill. The husband's name is unknown. Samuel Bouslough's second wife's name was Mary Eckart, of Mendota. They are at present living on a farm in Illinois. To the second union were born six children: Clyde, living in Iowa, has three children; Clifford has one child and lives in Mendota; Beulah Hoffman, living in Mendota has no children, and Darlien is at home with his father.

The fourth child of Jesse Bouslough, Harry, is living in Mendota and is engaged in the livery business. He married Nellie Deschaso. No children.

The fifth child, Theodore, married Mary English and has two children, Audrie Rose and Theodore, Jr. He is a farmer living near Mendota.

The sixth child, Mrs. Ida Grosenbaugh, lives near Mendota and has two children—Mrs John Fauber, who has one child, and Lillian Grosenbaugh, at home with her mother.

The seventh child, Mrs. Cora Wolfe, living at Webster City, has two children to her first husband, Orley Cummings.

Edward, the eighth child, lives at Buffalo, Minn.

The ninth child, Mrs. Minnie Jameson, also lives at Buffalo, Minn.

The youngest child of Jesse and Sarah Bouslough, Mrs. Bertha Truman, lives in Mendota and has three children, Greeta, Theo. and William, Jr.

Jesse Bouslough was married two years after his first wife's death, to Miss Ellen English, of Broome County, New York, and is now living in Mendota, Ill., a retired farmer. He is eighty-five years old and is able to take care of his garden and a driving horse.

The twelfth and youngest child of Flory and Jacob R. Bouslough, is Jacob H., a farmer, of Mendota, Ill., who was born near Hollidaysburg, Pa., March 31st, 1824. His oldest child, Ira, lives at Storm Lake, Iowa. Jacob married Mary D. Shollenberg, who was born near Yellow Springs, Blair County, Pa. To this marriage were born thirteen children, five of whom died in infancy. The names of children living are as follows:

(g) Winfield Wadsworth at present is residing in Rock Island, Ill.

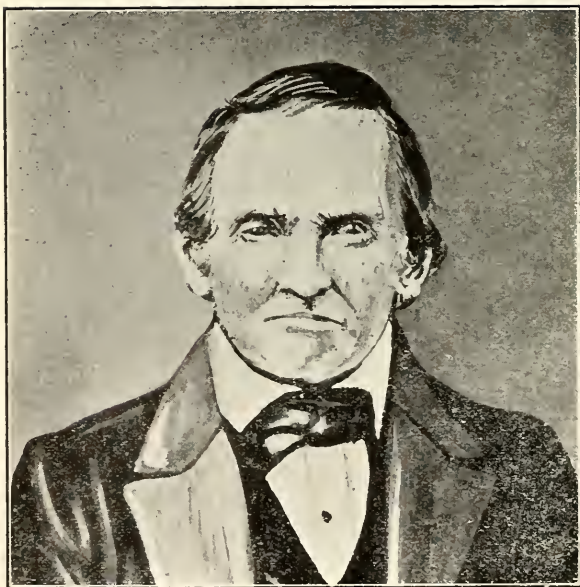

(h) Bessie Belle Bouslough is at home with her parents.

JOHN HILEMAN

JOHN HILEMAN, oldest son of Michael Hileman, married Miss Bridenbaugh. They had no children of their own, but raised Mary Ann Leamer, a daughter of Mr. Hileman's sister, Elizabeth, who died when this little daughter, Mary Ann, was only nine days old. John Hileman and wife raised, also, a boy by name of John Hileman and a girl by name of Ellen Hileman, who was drowned with some members of a family where she was visiting, in Shaver's Creek.

Frederick Hileman.

FREDERICK HILEMAN

FREDERICK HILEMAN, third child of Michael and Mary Hileman, was born January 30th, 1788; died June 6th, 1862. His wife, Maria Bridenbaugh, was born March 4th, 1790, and died February 27th 1861. He was born in York County, Pa., and came with his parents about the year 1802 to Frankstown Township, then Huntingdon County. After marriage he spent the remainder of his life on a farm near Frankstown. He and his wife were buried in Geeseytown Cemetery.

To them were born twelve children, as follows:

Catherine Hileman, daughter of Frederick and Mariah Hileman, was born in Morris Township, Huntingdon County, Pa., April 3rd, 1811. She was married in 1832 to William Shaffer.

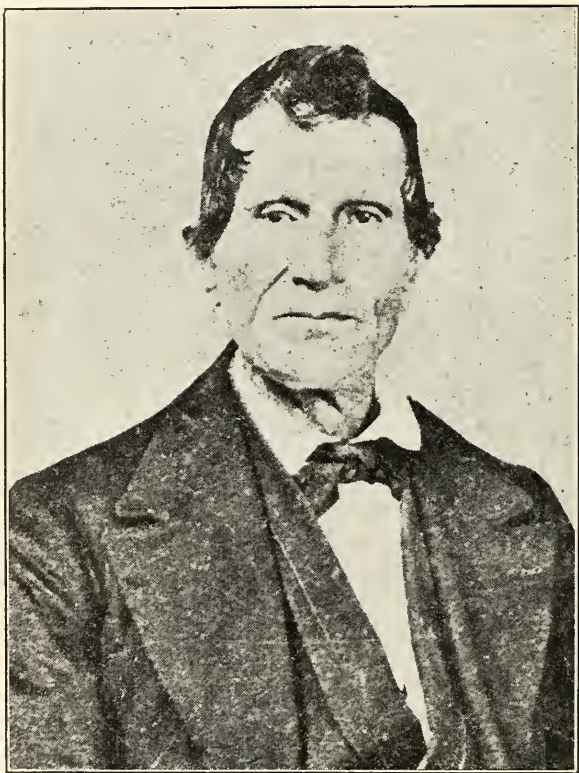

Mr. Shaffer purchased a farm on Clover Creek, three miles south of Williamsburg, Pa., in 1842, on which they lived until called from earth. They were members of the Lutheran Church and brought up their children in that church. Mrs. Shaffer died April 26th, 1864, from cancer. She was a noble

Christian wife and mother. Mr. Shaffer died April 3rd, 1880. They had eight children, as follows:

(1) Frederick W. Shaffer was a farmer. He was married March 10th, 1859, to Elizabeth Orr, who died January 3rd, 1866 (childless). December 26th, 1867, he married Margaret Orr. They had four children, namely: Orr H., born December 31st, 1868; Rebecca, born July 20th, 1870; May, born May 26th, 1876; Frederick R., born October 26th, 1880.

Mr. and Mrs. Shaffer being Presbyterians, reared their children in that faith. He was a ruling elder in the church of Bellwood, Pa. About ten years before his death he moved from his farm to Bellwood, where he devoted much of his time to improving his real estate. He was greatly respected by the public and beloved by his numerous friends and acquaintances. He died April 19th, 1895, leaving his widow, who died August 6th, 1911.

Orr H. Shaffer is the now prominent surgeon of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, at Altoona, Pa. He was married October 1st, 1902, to May Irving Thompson.

William Shaffer.

Catherine Hileman Shaffer.

They have one child, John Thompson, born October 6th, 1904.

Rebecca was married February 28th, 1906, to J. W. Price (blacksmith), of Juniata, Pa. They have two children, Catherine, born November 26th, 1906, and Frederick, born June 18th, 1908.

May was married June 22nd, 1904, to L. P. Bullions (machinist), now of Bellwood, Pa. They have one child, Margaret, born March 10th, 1905.

Frederick R. Shaffer is a civil engineer and manufacturer, of Bell Meade, N. J. He is single.

(2) Julia A. Shaffer was married November 3rd, 1858, to Philip S. Brown, a practicing lawyer of Kansas City, Mo. (formerly of Blair County, Pa.) They had nine children, six sons and three daughters. Three of the sons died young. The living are: Julia, born November 3rd, 1859; Lulu, born August 12th, 1862; William H., born February 26th, 1864; Philip S., Jr., born December 25th, 1866; Ralph J. and Sara, twins, born March 8th, 1874.

Mr. and Mrs. Sara Brown being members of the First Presbyterian Church of Kansas City, Mo., since 1858, and Mr. Brown a ruling elder therein since 1865, their children living were brought up within the faith of that denomination, and all became members of that church. Mrs. Brown died at their home in Kansas City, Mo., January 6th, 1908, after one week's illness from pneumonia. She was active in the work of the church and charities.

She was born at Shaffersville, Pa., May 10th, 1835, a daughter of William and Katherine Shaffer, and a representative of two of the oldest pioneer families of Western Pennsylvania, dating their residence there from about 1740. Mrs. Brown spent her girlhood days under the parental roof in an atmosphere of Christian living and when but twelve years of age united with the Lutheran Church, with which she was connected until her marriage when she joined the Presbyterian Church. Her early educational advantages were supplemented by a course of study in the Academia Seminary in Juniata County, Pa. For a year thereafter she engaged in teaching school and then took up the work of making a home for her husband and the children who came to them.

On the 3rd of November, 1858, she gave

Philip S. Brown, Sr.

Mrs. P. S. Brown.

her hand in marriage to Philip Shelley Brown and entered upon what proved an ideal marriage relationship. They came almost immediately to Kansas City. Mrs. Brown was particularly active in the work of the church and her influence was exerted in behalf of character building and in the adoption of religious principles. She united with the First Presbyterian Church of Kansas City on May 10th, 1859.

For nearly twenty years Mrs. Brown was a teacher in the primary department of the Sunday School. For a number of years she taught the little ones and up to the last met regularly with the ladies of the Aid Society, of which she was an officer for many years.

Mrs. Brown was one of the founders and incorporators of the Women's Christian Association and the Gillis Orphans' Home which grew out of it, and which is the largest charitable institution for the care of children in this city. For over thirty years she was active in its conduct and took upon herself the duty of buying all the supplies for the home, personally superintending this work. She possessed a most retentive memory, even in her old age.

In October, 1868, Mr. and Mrs. Brown removed to a twelve-acre farm at the northeast corner of Twelfth Street and Tracy Avenue. This is now the geographical center of the city. There, after purchasing the property, Mr. Brown had erected a large residence which was for many years the pride of that section. The old homestead still occupies the greater part of the original tract upon which it was built. It was at this home that Mrs. Brown reared her family, and while much interested in church and charitable work, she never neglected the duties of her own household. She was one of the charter members of the Mothers' Union of Kansas City, and continued active in its work until her death. She regarded as the greatest duty of womankind the care of her own children. She passed away January 6th, 1908, in the seventy-third year of her age.

She was one of the managers of the Gilis Orphans' Home, one of the most prominent institutions in the west for orphan children. She is survived by her husband and the following nine children:

His second wife, since her husband's death, has made her home with relatives in Springfield, Ohio. No children.

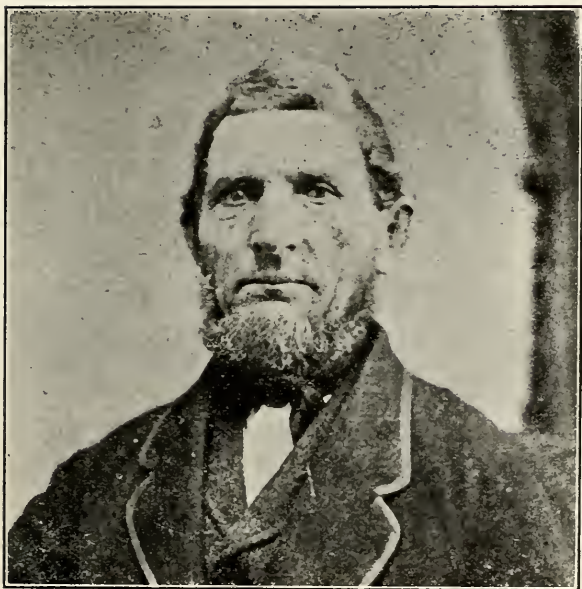

WILLIAM HILEMAN

 WILLIAM HILEMAN was born February 15th, 1813. His early life was spent on the home farm. He married Barbara Good, daughter of Peter Good, Sr., and started farming for himself in Canoe Valley near Waterstreet, raising excellent crops and priding in his fine horses, which are said to have attracted horse-thieves. Afterward, in compliance with his aged father's request, he took charge of the old homestead near Frankstown, consisting of 200 acres with a large stone dwelling and a splendid spring. He afterward bought the farm from his father, sold one-half to Joseph Hileman and after several years sold the remainder to Archie McFadden. A portion of said farm is now included in the freight transfer yard of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

He then moved to the Loop with Samuel Tussey, stayed two years when he bought the William Brooks property near Summer-ville on the pike leading to Hollidaysburg and having located upon it a large flowering mill. Here he lived until his death, August 23rd, 1880.

Mrs. William Hileman.

In his early life he followed teaching school and in later years went to Wittenberg College. He then returned home and enlisted in Company I, One Hundred and Thirty-seventh Regiment, Private Pennsylvania Volunteers. He was on picket duty when he contracted a cold, was taken to the hospital and died from typhoid fever.

Ann Hileman, daughter of William and Barbara Good Hileman, was born April 13th, 1844. She married Samuel Calvin Tussey January 26th, 1866, a son of Robert and Dorothy Tussey, of Canoe Valley. They farmed one year in Canoe Valley. They then purchased and occupied a farm in the Loop for seventeen years, later purchasing and occupying a farm of two hundred and ten acres near Hollidaysburg, which they still regard as their home, spending a portion of the last four years near Alva, Florida, where he has several hundred acres of land. He holds membership in the Reformed Church in Canoe Valley.

Mrs. Tussey, with five of the children, are members of the Lutheran Church in Hollidaysburg. As a soldier, Mr. Tussey was a member of the Ninth Pennsylvania Cavalry, serving for eleven months, and being in twenty-six battles. He is a member of Post 39, of Hollidaysburg. The following eleven children were born to this union:

(1) Harry Hileman Tussey at the age of twenty-two went to Philadelphia, where he was engaged in the coal business with the Burket brothers. He married Miss Emma Brunner, of Phoenixville, Pa., November 4th, 1911. Since then they have made their home at Alva, Florida, where he is engaged in the citrus fruit business.

(2) Sue Harnish Tussey is at home and is single.

(3) Emma Maud Tussey (deceased).

(10) Clara Alice Tussey was born June 2nd, 1885. She is preparing herself as a trained nurse in the Presbyterian Hospital, Philadelphia.

(11) Infant daughter, deceased.

Milton G., son of William and Barbara Good Hileman, was born September 18th, 1842, and died August 9th, 1907. The first twenty-three years of his life were spent on the parental home farm near Waterstreet, where he attended the district school. After marriage with Miss Julia Wertz, daughter of Solomon, they kept house at Frankstown, Blair County, Pa.

Thence he moved to Canoe Valley near Yellow Springs. After years of successful culture, bringing the farm to a high state of cultivation, he undertook the milling business, but not meeting with the success anticipated, owing to a burndown and other adverse conditions, he sold the mill to his brother, Harrison, and moved back to the old farm in Canoe Valley. A few years afterward he exchanged the farm for the Snively farm on Clover Creek, a few miles above Williamsburg. On this farm was a flour and feed mill, which seemed to be an attraction to him, but proved to be his misfortune, as after a considerable outlay in new machinery it was reduced to ashes, with but little insurance. With this money he purchased a little home with five acres of ground, one mile west of Hollidaysburg, where he spent the remaining five years of his life, which is still the home of his bereft wife. He was an active member of the Lutheran Church during life. In politics he was a Republican. The following nine children were born to them:

(9) David Ralph was born May 25th, 1885. He lives at home with his mother.

Amanda, daughter of William and Barbara Good Hileman, was born in Canoe Valley, Huntingdon County, Pa., August 31st, 1847. She lived with her parents until the year 1875. She then married J. S. Riddle, son of David and Margaret Riddle, of Brooks Mills. They resided in the state of Illinois two years. Her parents being left alone they came back to Pennsylvania and resided with them at Brooks Mills.

Mr. Riddle operated the flour mill and farmed also, while living there. After her parents' death they moved to Roaring Spring, where Mr. Riddle found employment in the book factory.

There were ten children, three of whom have passed away—William, Dean and Clair.

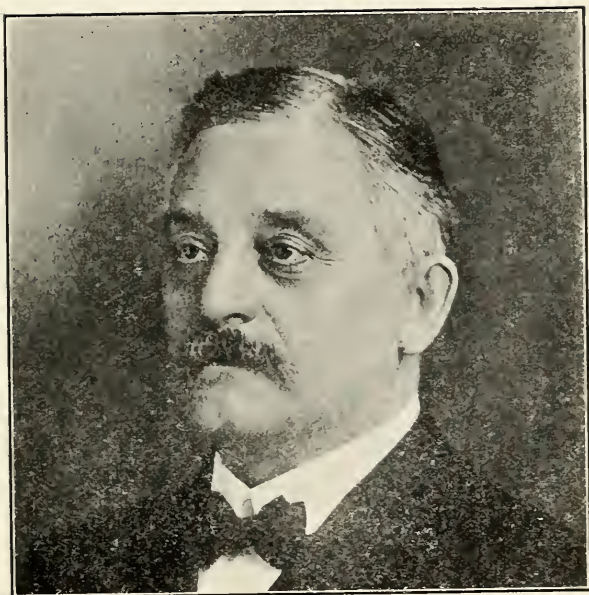

Hattie married G. N. Clark, who is a collector for a wholesale grocery house. Edythe married G. C. Taylor, of Wilkinsburg, who is a clerk. They have one son, Vernon, and one daughter, Marjorie. Pearl married E. N. Barley of Baker's Summit, who operates a creamery at that place. Jay resides with his sister at Wilkinsburg and is a collector for a wholesale grocery house. Laura is at home with her parents at Roaring Spring. Anna married K. R. Stewart, wire chief for a telephone company at East End, Pittsburgh, Pa. They have one son, Elvin. Louis resides with his sister, Mrs. Stewart, and is in the electrical engineering business.

The children are all church members, as are also the sons-in-law.

Mrs. Susanna Hammond.

SUSANNAH HILEMAN

SUSANNAH HILEMAN, Frederick Hileman's fourth daughter, was born January 5th, 1822, in Blair County, on a farm near Frankstown. She joined the Lutheran Church in her girlhood days, and lived in that faith. On November 7th, 1839, she became the wife of Mr. Stephen Hammond, a young merchant of Frankstown, Blair County, Pa. He was of Scotch-English descent, of Presbyterian faith, and a staunch Republican. In the year 1846 or 1847 Susannah moved with her husband and family across the Allegheny Mountains to Clarion County. Mr. Hammond superintended the building of the "Carr's Furnace" and from there moved to Armstrong County, Pa., where he superintended the building of Phoenix Furnace. He became the owner of a grain flouring mill in Milton, Pa., and near there 270 acres of land, on which they both lived the remainder of their days. Mr. Hammond departed this life October 19th, 1864. Pleurisy caused his death. Susannah remained on the farm until her death, May 22nd, 1881, consumption causing her death. To this union eleven children were born, as follows:

William Henry Harrison Hammond was born September 16th, 1840, and died in infancy.

Mariah Prudence Hammond was born September 16th, 1842. She died in infancy.

Thomas Jefferson Hammond was born March 30th, 1844. He lived at home, attended district school, and finished his education at Glade Run Academy, Pa., and taught three terms of country school. He was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church and lived a consistent Christian until his death. In March, 1865, he enlisted in Company K, One Hundred and Fourth Regiment of Pennsylvania Volunteers in the Civil War, and on the first day of June, 1865, was drowned at Norfolk, Va., and was interred there in the Soldiers' National Burying Ground. Age twenty-one years.

Mary Jane Hammond was born January 30th, 1846. She died in infancy.

James Madison Hammond, fifth child of Susannah and Stephen Hammond, was born September 4th, 1848, in Strattonville, Clarion County, Pa. Later he moved with his parents to Phoenix, Pa. Here he received his education, finishing in Glade Run Academy in 1868. He took up teaching as a profession, teaching in all twenty-two years. His later years were devoted to farming. February 18th, 1875, at the age of twenty-six, he was united in marriage to Miss Mirelda Estella Gaston.

In 1886 he moved with his family to Rawlings County, Kansas, where they lived until the Spring of 1895, when they moved into the Driftwood in Red Willow County, Neb., where he died December 10th, 1904. His wife died March 24th, 1903, after a prolonged illness, of cancer.

In 1868 he united with the Presbyterian Church at Glade Run, Pa., but upon his removal west, he united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. He was a staunch supporter of the Republican party. To them were born six children, as follows:

Nancy Adessa, first child of James and Mirelda Hammond, was born November 20th, 1875, in Phoenix, Pa. In the Spring of 1886 she moved from there with her parents to Rawlins County, Kansas, here she united with the Baptist Church. In the Spring of 1895, she moved to McCook, Neb., with her parents, and united with the Baptist Church.

She received her schooling in Atwood, Kansas. At the age of sixteen she taught her first term of school, which vocation she followed until her marriage to William J. Purvis, June 29th, 1897. To this union one child, Arden Hammond Purvis, was born April 13th, 1898.

In March, 1899, she died after a brief illness of pneumonia.

Milton Hilemand Hammond, second child of James and Mirelda Hammond, was born in Phoenix, Armstrong County, Pa., March 6th, 1878. At the age of eight years he moved with his parents to Rawlins County, Kansas. In 1895 the family moved to McCook, Neb., where Milton Hileman received his education, finishing from the McCook High School in 1898. Here he joined the Methodist Episcopal Church. The following year he took up railroading, and is now an engineer on the Burlington Road.

January 20th, 1904, at the age of twenty-six, he was united in marriage with Anna Goldtrap of McCook, Neb. He was a supporter of the Republican party.

James Oscar Hammond, third child of James and Mirelda Hammond, was born May 17th, 1880, in Phoenix, Pa. In 1886, at the age of five, he moved with his parents to Rawlins County, Kansas. Here he lived until 1895, when the family moved to McCook, Red Willow County, Neb. Here he united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. In 1900 he graduated in the McCook High School. The following year he moved to Pueblo, Colo., where he engaged in the laundry business until 1903, when he returned to McCook, and there bought a laundry in partnership with E. M. Bigelow. In 1906 he bought out the McCook Cement and Stone plant.

On November 7th, 1900, he was united in marriage with Mabel Goldtrap of McCook, Neb. To this union two children were born—John Oscar, born March 26th, 1906, and Francis Lucile, born August 19th, 1907; died December 20th, 1910. James Oscar Hammond was a Republican.

Ada Alice Hammond, fourth child of James and Mirelda Hammond, was born October 9th, 1883, in Phoenix, Pa. In 1886 she moved to Kansas with her parents, and in 1895 to McCook, Neb. Here she united with the Baptist Church. June 5th, 1905, she received a diploma from the McCook High School. At the death of her parents she went to live with Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Brown, of McCook, Neb. With them she moved to Hastings, Neb. In 1906 she there entered the Hasting's Business College, from which she received her diploma in 1907.

In January she took up a position as head-bookkeeper in Woodward's Department Store in Hastings, and there remained until her marriage December 22nd, 1909, to Samuel Bayless. She immediately moved with her husband to Colorado Springs, Colo. To this union one child was born, Ada Caroline, April 19th, 1911.

Mary Ethel Hammond, fifth child of James and Mirelda Hammond, was born April 28th, 1887, in Atwood, Rawlins County, Kansas. In 1895 she moved with her parents to McCook, Neb. Here she became a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church. In 1906 she graduated from the McCook High School. At the death of her father, December 10th, 1904, she went to live with her brother, Milton Hileman Hammond, where she remained until her marriage February 18th, 1907, to LeRoy E. Dutton. She moved immediately to Alamosa, Colorado, with her husband, who is an extensive land owner in the San Luis Valley. To this union one child was born, March 28th, 1909, Robert Earlum Dutton.

Josephine Mabel Hammond, sixth child of James and Mirelda Hammond, was born August 27th, 1890, at Atwood, Rawlins County, Kansas. In 1895 she moved with her parents to McCook, Neb. Here she united with the Congregational Church. At the death of her father, December 10th, 1904, she went to live with her brother, J. O. Hammond, where she remained until she completed her course in the McCook High School, June 7th, 1907. September 4th, 1907, she entered Grove City College, Grove City, Pa., which school she attended until June 14th, 1910, when she received a degree of Bachelor of Arts, at the age of nineteen.

Sarah Elizabeth, sixth child of Stephen and Susannah Hammond, was born July 3rd, 1850. She died in infancy.

Rebecca Ann, seventh child of Stephen and Susannah Hammond, was born August 3rd, 1852.

Frederick Hileman, eighth child of Stephen and Susannah Hammond, was born at Phoenix, Pa., September 20th, 1854. At the age of fifteen he was sent to Glade Run Academy, Pa. When just eighteen years of age he was elected to teach in the schools of New Salem, Pa. During the fourth term of his teaching he contracted a sever cold, it developed into pneumonia and he passed away February 17th, 1876. He was a promising, pious young man of Presbyterian faith, and loved by all who knew him. He was a staunch Republican.

Addessa Susannah, ninth child of Stephen and Susannah Hammond, was born at Milton, Pa., November 17th, 1856. She joined the Methodist Episcopal Church at Milton, Pa., at the age of 14. Later attended Glade Run Academy. At the age of eighteen she taught the country school three terms, and at the age of twenty-one was married to Dr. W. B. Walker, of Dayton, Pa., on December 21st, 1876, and after she went to Dayton to live she became an earnest temperance worker, and filled the office of secretary in the Local Union, at Dayton, ten years. To this union was born one son, McLeon Hileman, September 6th, 1878. He was a very bright child. He attended the Dayton Academy, also joined the Methodist Episcopal Church at the age of nine years. When he was about fifteen years old his mother moved to Clarion, Clarion County, Pa. He attended the State Normal, and graduated in that institution at the age of nineteen, and in Clarion his mother became the wife of Mr. W. J. Chambers in 1895. They moved to Butler, Pa., where McLeod entered business college and graduated at the age of twenty-one. He then took up the study of electricity. For some years he has been engaged in the automobile business in Pittsburgh, Pa. He is a Republican.

Stephen Juard, tenth child of Stephen and Susannah Hammond, was born July 15th, 1858, and died in infancy.

Laura Louise, eleventh child of Stephen and Susannah Hammond, was born September 24th, 1862. She attended Glade Run Academy for several years. She taught school at the age of twenty years. She later attended Edenborough State Normal. She graduated from there and went West to Kansas to follow her vocation. She taught several years, then entered into kindergarten work by becoming a student in the Emposa State Normal, in Kansas. After graduating from that school she decided the work was too monotonous to make it her life work, and she entered the business college at Salina, Kansas. She graduated in stenography and bookkeeping and secured a position in Kansas City with Armour & Co. Her work there was too heavy and she gave up her position and went to Denver, Colo., for her health. She secured a position there and plans to make it her home.

Anna Maria Magdaline Hileman, third child of Frederick and Maria Hileman, married Samuel Good. See History of Good Family.

SARAH HILEMAN

SARAH HILEMAN, daughter of Frederick and Mariah Hileman, was born May 11th, 1826. She was married to Stephen Hammond December 1st, 1846, by the Rev. P. Anstadt, pastor of the Lutheran Church of Hollidaysburg. As a wedding trip they went to Indiana County to visit her sisters, Mrs. Samuel Rhoades and Mrs. Samuel Good. Before entering into housekeeping they lived with his grandfather, William Hammond, and later with Mrs. Hammond's parents. In the Spring of 1852 they moved to a farm in Scotch Valley, Blair County, Pa., and afterward to a farm in Canoe Valley, where they lived until March, 1878. The old rock farm has now passed into the hands of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and is used as a stone quarry.

In 1878 Mr. Hammond, with his wife and three children, went to Salina, Kan., on the Smoky Hill River, where he lived until the following year, when he purchased a farm of one hundred and twenty-nine acres near Abalene.

Before coming to Kansas with her family, Marie, the eldest child, married a young farmer of Canoe Valley, at Yellow Springs, named Robert Cuning. The marriage took place February 5th, 1867. She and her husband remained near her people near Abalene, Kansas, until 1889, when Mr. Cuning secured employment with the A. T. & S. F. Ry. as coach builder in the Topeka shops. Moving to Topeka, they lived in the capital city, when he was transferred to San Bernardino, Cal., where he now resides at 863 Fifth Street. They are the parents of three children.

James F. Cuning was born January 2nd, 1868. At the age of twenty-one he entered the service of the Sante Fe Railway as fireman and was soon promoted to engineer. He married Minnie Erskine November 24th, 1891, and took her to Marceline, Mo., their present home. They have three children: Edith, born December 13th, 1892; Gladys, born October 6th, 1894, and Letha, born September 2nd, 1898.

Harry H. Cuning was born May 15th, 1870, and died October 27th, 1876, at the age of five years, from diphtheria.

Ora B. Cuning was born July 10th, 1874. In Topeka she learned the milliner's trade and moving to San Bernadino with her parents, she continued to ply her trade. There she met and married, November 6th, 1907, Mr James Miller, proprietor of the Santa Fe laundry. Their residence is at 75½ F. Street.

Maxwell B., the second child of Stephen and Sarah Hammond, was born near Hollidaysburg, Pa. He was a vigorous exponent of the Lutheran creed and Republicanism. December 24th, 1872, he married Miss Eva D. Shafer, of Shaffersville, Huntingdon County, Pa. They resided in Huntingdon County until 1884, when they came west and settled at Abalene on a farm. There he died August 20th, 1905, of dropsy of the heart, leaving a widow and two daughters. Four daughters were born to them, namely:

Sarah E. Hammond was born July 4th, 1874, and died November 20th, 1875.

Mabel G. Hammond was born April 7th, 1879, and died August 4th, 1880.

Mary S. Hammond was born May 28th, 1876, and was married March 12th, 1902, to J. R. Murphy, a farmer, near Enterprise, Kansas. They have now moved into the city of Enterprise.

Dolly May Hammond was born August

23rd, 1880. She lives with her mother at Abalene, where both are engaged in the dressmaking business.

Rebecca Candeas, the third child of Stephen and Sarah Hammond, was born July 21st, 1852, near Yellow Springs, Blair County, Pa. She married Joseph P. Downing September 10th, 1871.

They lived in Blair County until 1878, when they moved with Mrs. Downing's parents to Kansas. After living one year in Salina, Kansas, they moved December 8th, 1878, to Abalene, Kansas, on a farm. In 1895 they moved to Topeka, Kansas, and remained there until March, 1897. They then moved to Griggsville in April, 1906. The western fever took possession and they moved to Custer County, Nebraska, locating on a farm near Arnold, where they now reside. To this union six children were born:

Edward Jesse Downing was born December 10th, 1872. He married Miss Hattie Schoop January 3rd, 1899. He is an undertaker. No children have been born to this couple.

Anna V. Downing was born April 26th, 1874. She married Frank Rulison May 28th, 1894. She died January 4th, 1897, of tuberculosis.

Sarah M. Downing was born August 1st, 1876, and died April 14th, 1878.

Linn S. Downing was born at Abalene, Kansas July 29th, 1882. He married Miss Lula English, of Griggsville, January 28th, 1903. Three children were born of this union: Nelson Walter, born February 3rd, 1904; Kenneth, born March 28th, 1905, and Margaret, born in December, 1907.

Lella Roxie Downing was born September 17th, 1885, and died February 1st, 1886.

James W. Downing was born October 29th, 1888, at Abalene, Kansas. He married Miss Alta Gertrude Phifer, of Custer County, Nebraska, September 11th, 1908. No children.

Jesse L. Hammond, the youngest child of Stephen and Sarah Hammond, was born at Yellow Springs, Pa., June 17th, 1863. He and his two sons are the only surviving male members of this branch of the Hammond family. He worked with his father on the farm which his father purchased, about three and one-half miles houtheast of Abalene. His education consisted of a two winter's course in the Commercial College at Abalene and in home instruction in orthodox Lutheranism and dyed-in-the-wool Republicanism.

It was at a Sunday School picnic excursion from Abalene to Salina when young Jesse chanced to find a responsive light in the eye of Miss Anna M. Swartz, who had come down from Aberline. They were married September 2nd, 1884. They lived on a farm with the elder Mr. Hammond until the death of her mother, Mrs. Sarah Hammond. To this union four children were born:

Aaron B. Hammond was born February 17th, 1886.

Ruth May, born March 3rd, 1888.

Harry H., born September 8th, 1889.

Ralph S., born August 16th, 1893; died July 4th, 1899.

With these children Mr. and Mrs. Hammond moved to Topeka, Kansas, April 1st, 1896, where Mr. Hammond took charge of the oiling and belting in the Santa Fe shops. The family lived at 1336 N. Monroe Street for a time, then moved onto a farm north-east of the city, where Mr. Hammond reared the boys while he retained his position in the shop. Finally, however, he gave up the shop altogether and moved to a farm near Elmont, Shawnee County. From there, the three children have been sent to the Kansas State Agricultural College.

On February 28th, 1910, Mr. Hammond held a public sale at his farm so that he might enter the employ of S. F. Baker, proprietary medicine firm, as a district salesman, and with a view to establishing a home in Manhattan, Kansas, where the Kansas State Agricultural College is located in order to allow the children to complete their college course.

The first parents of the Kansas Hammonds have now passed on, leaving two daughters and a son and many grandchildren to harvest their early sowing.

Mrs. Sarah Hammond was stricken ill at the home of Mrs. Peter Good, a sister, in Hollidaysburg, Pa., where she had gone with Stephen Hammond to attend a family reunion. The return journey was about to be taken to Kansas when Mr. Hammond went to obtain an old spinning wheel from Mrs. Hammond's old home as a relic. While he was gone she was taken ill, and died September 26th, 1895, before he could reach her side. Stephen Hammond returned alone to Kansas and died four years later, October 2nd, 1899.

SAMUEL HILEMAN

SAMUEL HILEMAN was a son of Frederick and Maria (nee Bridenbaugh) Hileman. He was born February 3rd, 1829, on the farm near Waterstreet, Huntingdon County, Pa. He lived with his parents until he married Mary Ann Young February 7th, 1855, daughter of Curtiss Young, of Scotch Valley, Blair County, Pa. They moved west, locating at Le Clare, Iowa. About one year afterward they bought a farm of eighty acres about seven miles from Le Claire.

They lived on this farm about seven years. He sold this and bought a farm of one hundred and thirty-seven acres, one mile from Le Claire. He lived here about twenty years and then moved to Davenport, Iowa. He and Mrs. Hileman remained at Davenport until his death, May 30th, 1900, aged seventy-one years. Mrs. Hileman and five children were left to mourn his loss. Mrs. Mary Ann Hileman, his wife, was born May 17th, 1837. She is now living at St. Anthony, Idaho, with her son-in-law, Mr. Perry Stone. Mr. Samuel Hileman was a successful farmer, upright in all his dealings, cheerful and social. He and Mrs. Hileman have always been active members of the Lutheran Church. When only fifteen years old he united with the Evangelical Lutheran Church in Pennsylvania. In coming west he transferred his membership to the Salem Church at Lost Grove, and from there to the St. Paul's Lutheran Church of Davenport, Iowa. FREDERICK HILEMAN

FREDERICK HILEMAN, son of Frederick and Mariah Hileman, was born November 30th, 1834, and died February 24th, 1844. He is buried in the family plot at Geeseytown.

MARY HILEMAN

ARY HILEMAN, commonly called "Polly," married Philip Bridenbaugh. Mr. Bridenbaugh was a farmer and resided in Sinking Valley. He died September 27th, 1861, aged seventy-three years, seven months. Mary Hileman Bridenbaugh spent the last years of her life with her daughter, Mrs. Rebecca Loudon at Juniata. She died May 6th, 1879, aged eighty-one years and nine months, and with her husband and two sons, are sleeping in the Reformed Cemetery in Sinking Valley. Twelve children were given them:

John Bridenbaugh, deceased, went to Nebraska. He had five children: Mrs. Fair, deceased, of Juniata, and of the others we have no knowledge.

Henry Bridenbaugh married a Miss Sprinkle and was a farmer near Martinsburg.

Benjamin also married a Miss Sprinkle and resided on a farm near Martinsburg.

Michael Bridenbaugh married Eliza Ramay, both deceased. They had no family. Mr. Bridenbaugh was a farmer and lived near Bellwood, Blair County, Pa. They were members of the Lutheran church.

David Y. Bridenbaugh was killed May 26th, 1855, on Brush Mountain, while peeling bark, aged twenty-five years.

Joseph Bridenbaugh died December 30, 1859, aged twenty-seven years and fifteen days. Both David and Joseph are deceased and are buried in the Reformed Cemetery in Sinking Valley.

Susan Bridenbaugh married Frank Wilson and had four children. She died in White Side County, Ill.

Eliza Bridenbaugh married — Seeds and resides in Aberdeen, Kansas, and celebrated her eighty-fifth birthday in November, 1911.

Philip W. Bridenbaugh, Jr., married Anna Bodley and resided on the old homestead farm in Sinking Valley, and on October 6th, 1891, passed away, leaving his wife and six children, one child preceding him to the grave. The children are: Mary Bridenbaugh; Cora, married to Lawson Orr, of Tyrone, Pa., and has one child—Thelma Orr; William Bridenbaugh has two children, Helen and Florence; Sydney Bridenbaugh, of Tyrone, has two children—Lynn

Mrs. Harriet Russel, deceased, had three children—Mrs. John Kyper, Mrs. John Linger, both of McConnellsville, and Samuel Russell of Sinking Valley.

Mrs. Rebecca Loudon, of Altoona, was the youngest of this family of twelve. Her husband, William Loudon, owned a farm, which has been sold off into lots and now is a part of the Borough of Juniata. They are both deceased and are buried in Fairview Cemetery, Altoona. Of their family of seven children, six are living. Mr. Loudon died September 3rd, 1899. Mrs. Loudon died January 18th, 1912, and their son, Grant, August 25th, 1904. The children living are: Sara Ella, Mrs. G. W. Loudon, of 2110 West Chestnut Avenue, Altoona; Mary Vialo; Mrs. L. A. Winters, of Juniata; Edward W., M. D., of South Altoona; G. W., clerk in Aaron's furniture store, Altoona; William Hays, Altoona, and Calvin Blair Loudon, Altoona.

Of Mrs. Mary Stryker, twelfth child of Mary and Philip Bridenbaugh, nothing is known.

DANIEL HILEMAN

DANIEL, son of Michael and Mary Hileman, was born September 24th, 1799. He owned and occupied a farm near Frankstown, Blair (then Huntingdon) County, Pa. In partnership with Essington Hammond he owned and operated what was known as Frankstown Furnace. He afterward purchased a farm near Orbisonia, where he died December 3rd, 1874. He was married twice. To his first wife—Closson—one son, James, was born. To his second wife—Elizabeth Wharton—no children were born. He and his wife were members of the Reformed Church.

James Hileman, son of Daniel Y. and Elizabeth Hileman, was born February 4th, 1832, in Frankstown Township, now a part of Blair County. The old Hileman farm is now owned by J. King McLanahan. James Hileman was reared in Blair County, and during early manhood taught a few terms of school in this county. He later removed to Huntingdon County with his parents and in 1867 came to Blair County and located in Pleasant Valley, Logan Township, where he resided until 1881. He then returned to Huntingdon County, where he resided until the time of his death, August 4th, 1895. He always made farming his occupation. James Hileman married Caroline McClure, who was born in Alexandria, Huntingdon County, Pa., a daughter of Andrew McClure. Mrs. Hileman died in 1861. In 1861 he married Martha Jane McCoy, of Orbisonia, Huntingdon County, Pa. No children. He was a member of the First Lutheran Church of Altoona, and afterwards of the Second Lutheran Church, of which he was a charter member, and also an officer. In politics he was a Republican. To his first wife, Caroline, were born four children, as follows:

Charles Mosheim Hileman was born in Huntingdon County in 1854, and with his parents came to Blair County when about thirteen years of age. He has always followed farming and for a number of years resided on the Hileman homestead in Pleasant Valley. In politics he is a Republican and has held several minor township offices.

Mr. Hileman married Catherina Isabella McCormick, and to them the following children were born: Martha, married to Herbert Kerns, of Altoona, and Charles C. Hile-man. Harry McClure Hileman was born April 5th, 1856, in Cromwell Township, Huntingdon County, Pa., a son of James and Caroline McClure Hileman. When about eleven years old his parents moved to Blair County, and he received his education in the common schools of Blair and Huntingdon Counties. He has always followed farming. Mr. Hileman is politically a Republican, has served as tax collector, and in minor township offices, and is now serving his sixth term on the School Board. He is a member of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Altoona, and was for a number of years one of its trustees.

Mr. Hileman married Margaret Alice McCormick, of Sinking Valley, and to them the following children were born: Laura Mary, married Robert E. Dunlap, of East Liberty, Pittsburgh; Jesse Edna; Alice Lucinda, Lourenia Winifred, at home, and Alma Gertrude, who died, aged about five years. He owns and occupies a beautiful home, No. 3528 Sixth Avenue, Altoona.

Alvaretta Frances Hileman married Alexander M. Young, of Altoona, Pa., and to them the following children were born: Mary L., married Roy A. Burket, of Altoona, and Annie Elizabeth, married Clarence W. Snyder.

Miss L. Winifred Hileman.

Mary Elizabeth Hileman married Jacob Wirrbaugh, of Altoona, who died, and she afterwards married Arthur Zeigler, of Altoona, Pa.

CATHERINE HILEMAN

CATHERINE, daughter of Michael and Mary Hileman, was born about the year 1799. The date of her death is unknown. When she married John Kemberling is, also, unknown. Michael Hileman in his will gave to his grandchildren the share of the deceased parent, and as there is no grandchild mentioned by the name of Kemberling there were likely no children to this marriage, or if there were they probably died before their grandfather, Michael Hileman.

It is thought that John and Catherine Kemberling are buried in a graveyard on the farm of Lynn A. Brua, near Franks-town. There is no positive proof of any of the above statements, but after much inquiry and investigation, they are most likely correct.

Philip Hileman and Mrs. Philip Hileman

The sixth child of Philip Hileman, William Calvin, was born July 27th, 1839, and when the Civil War began enlisted October 24th, 1861, in the Eighty-fourth Regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteers. At Winchester, Va., he with seven other comrades were ordered out to charge rebel troops. After the battle was over one out of the eight, William K. Hileman, returned to the tent, the seven others either being killed or wounded. William C. Hileman was wounded by three balls: a flesh wound in the arm, another in the leg and the fatal wound was caused by a bullet passing through a lung. He was taken to the hospital in Winchester where he died March 29th, 1862. While in the hospital he was waited upon by the kind ladies of Winchester. Being so weak, he was fed by a young lady, Anna Jackson, said to have been a relative of Stonewall Jackson. When his body was brought home, among his possessions was this lady's picture, which she had given to him. He was buried with military honors in the Presbyterian Cemetery, at Hollidaysburg, Pa.

Lydia Margaret Herzog was the seventh child of Philip Hileman, and was born February 5th, 1842. She was the mother of eight sons. She with her husband and six children passed through the Johnstown flood. Their house and stable were carried off the lot and deposited several blocks away. When the warning came from their son, James, who seized the baby, Joseph, and called to his father and mother to come, they secured a few valuables and fled to the hill. Mr. Herzog, doubting the truth of the warning, was rather reluctant to leave his home and was almost caught in the mad waters as they carried everything before them. Two of the younger boys were not at home when the parents left and of course the parents felt that they were lost; but after spending the night on Green Hill, the next morning while wandering around with many others in distress and sorrow, what was their joyful surprise but to meet their two little boys, who were, also, thinking all but themselves had been lost.
